

COLLECTION MAINTENANCE

Rockford Public Library staff routinely examines the collection and removes materials which are no longer of value. These materials are usually those which are worn out, out of date, or materials no longer needed in the quantity originally purchased.

Materials removed are generally given to the Friends of the Library for book sales, but are disposed of at the discretion of the staff.