THE CLASS OF 1922

"We are the class of '22"—we can say these words with pride;
For we've done much, and are doing much, and can do much more beside.
Four years ago we entered here, to a world that was new,
New friends, new hopes, new pleasures, and a world of vision, too.

'Twas not always easy sledding, in the four years just gone by;
There seemed to be occasions when it was no use to try.
But the path of roses matters not, when you count things up at last,
It's the hardships we've encountered and the obstacles we've passed.

We have founded lasting friendships, let the future be their test,
Friends and teachers working with us, have brought out that which is best.
We were like plastic lumps of clay in the skillful sculptor's hands,
Now we have ability and the character that stands.

And now on another threshold of another world that's new,
We pause to pay a tribute to a loyal friend and true;
The school that has helped us, served us, made us what we are today,
"All hail to Rockford High School"—as we turn our steps away.

Francis C. Lowe, '22.

1922 CLASS SONG

A jolly good band of classmates are we,
A merrier lot you never will see;
To reach a height on the ladder of fame,
Though hard be the climbing, yet still 'twas our aim;
These four happy years we've come bravely through,
Giving to play time and work time their due;
And now, ere we bid Rockford High School adieu,
We'll sing our own praises for class '22.

Chorus:

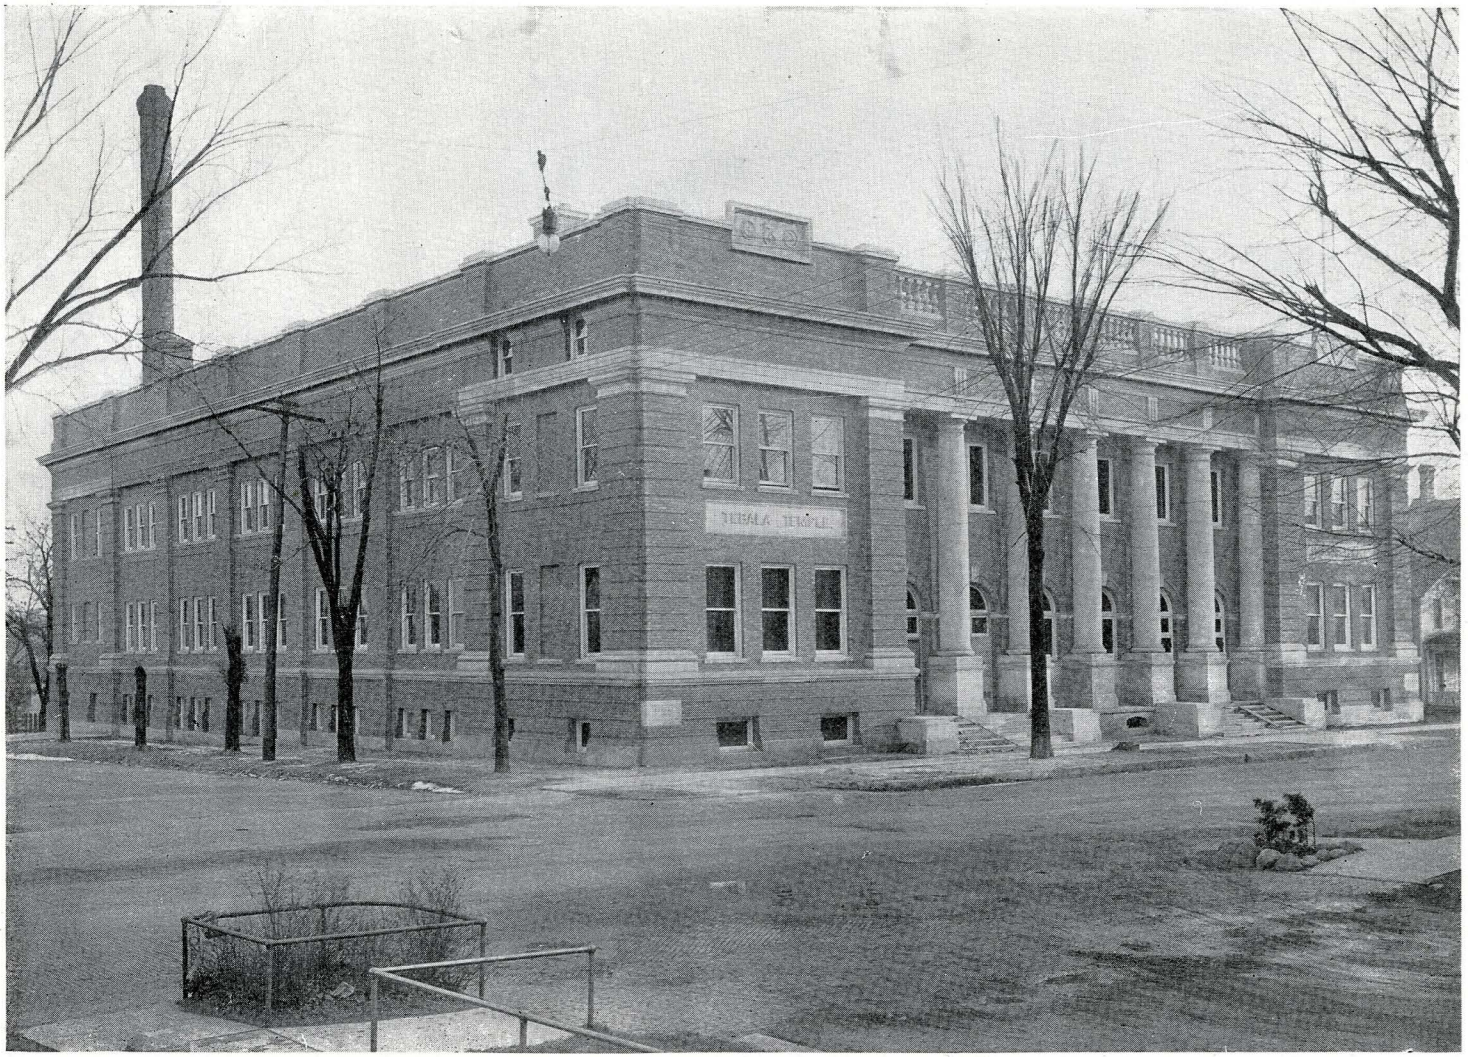

Then come, let us now our class colors unfold,
Those autumnal colors of rich brown and gold,
And sing with a heart beating loyal and true,
To dear Rockford High School and the class '22.

Of our athletic heroes, what more need we say?
You all know their laurels, won every day.
In the R. O. T. C., A. B. L., and the Band,
In Orchestra, French Club, we all lent a hand;
To teachers and principal we've meant to be true,
For many's the task they've helped us to do;
And now as we bid Rockford High School adieu,
We'll sing loud our praises for class '22.

Chorus:

Then come, let us now our class colors unfold,
Those autumnal colors of rich brown and gold,
And sing with a heart beating loyal and true,
To dear Rockford High School and the class '22.

THE NEW PURCHASING DEPARTMENT

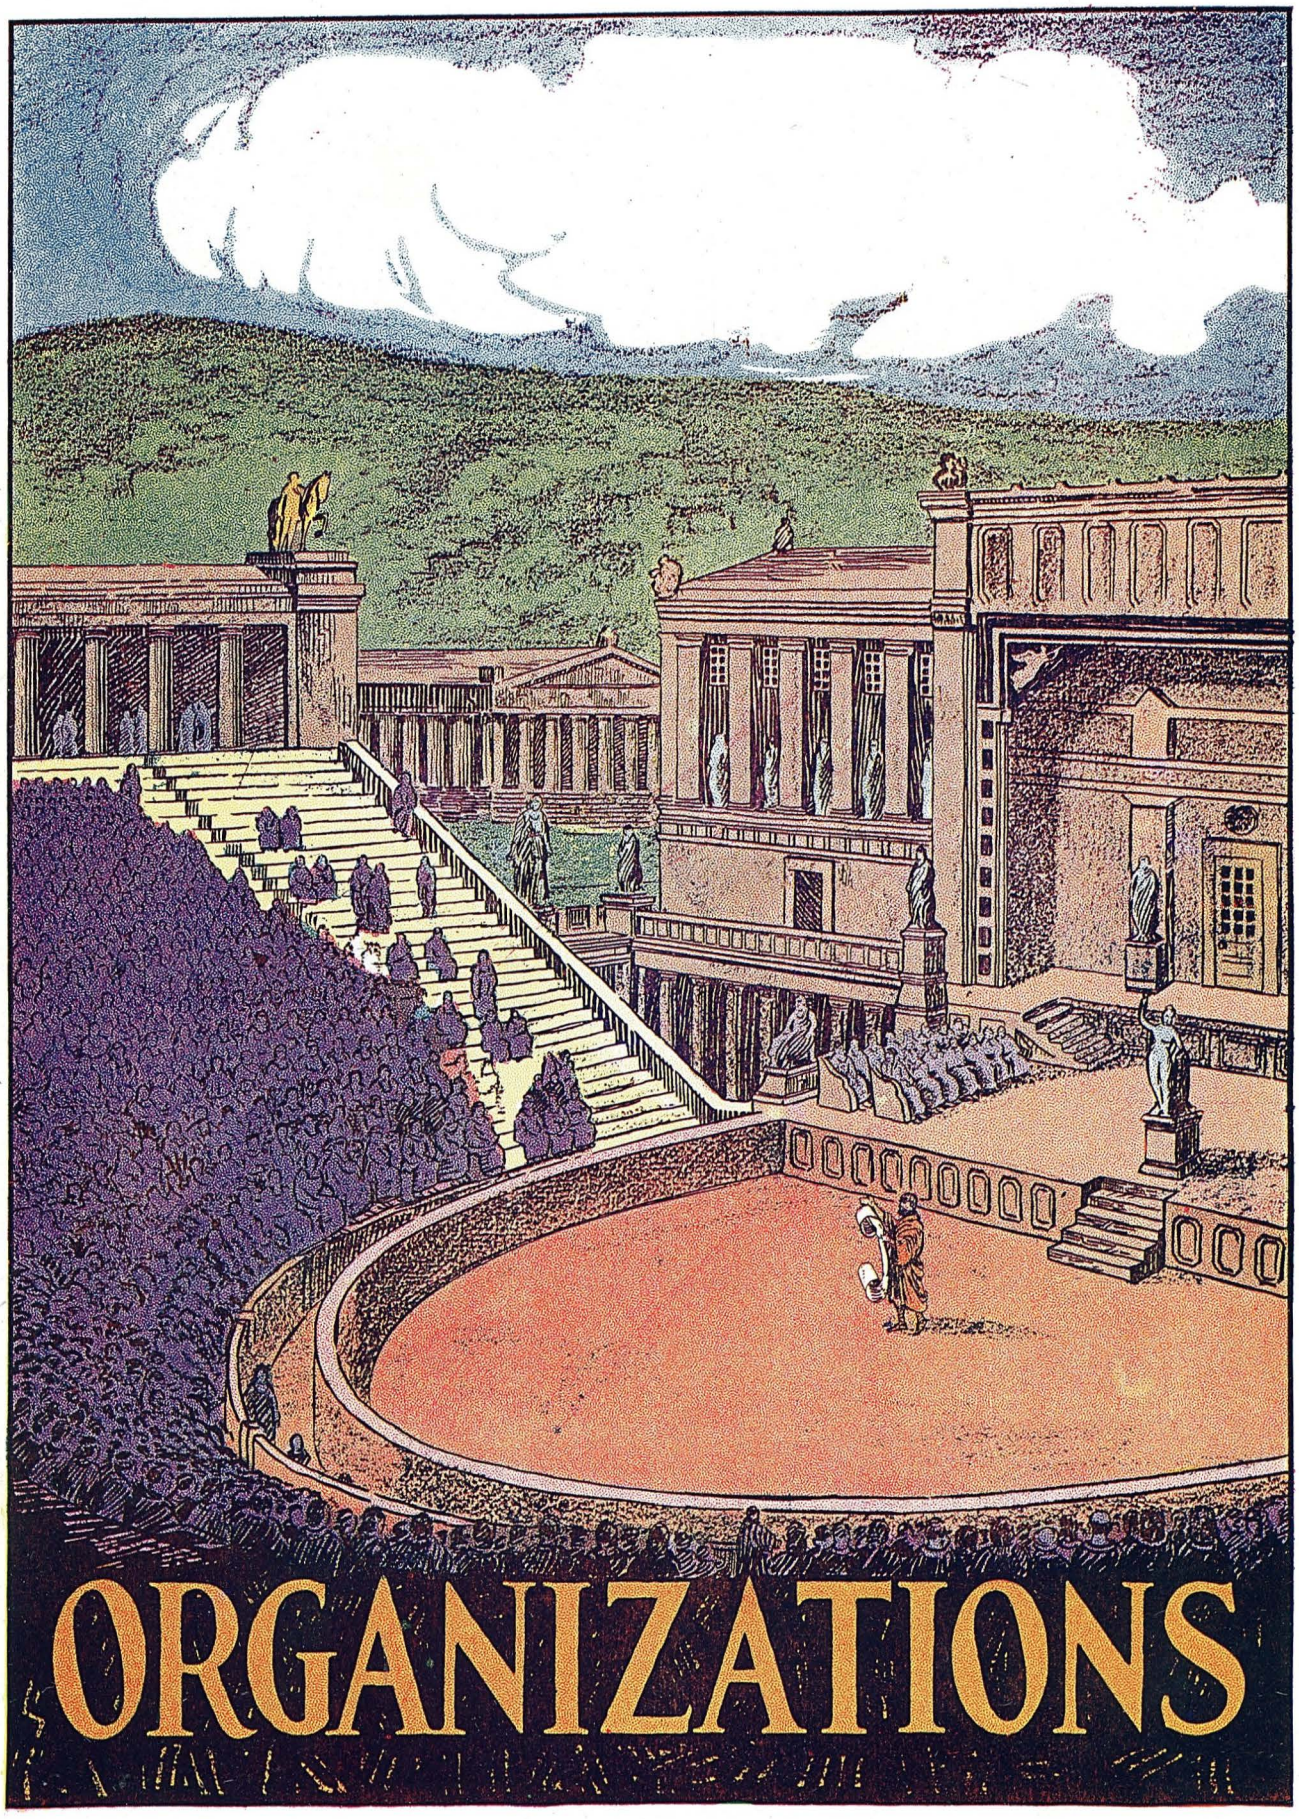

Brought into existence in December, 1921, to relieve the building department of Rockford's public school system, the purchasing department, under the supervision of Mr. C. L. Bailey, purchasing agent of the Board of Education, has proved itself a great aid in cutting down expenses for all types of supplies, and in the eighteen months of its existence has made possible decided cuts in the annual appropriation for supplies.

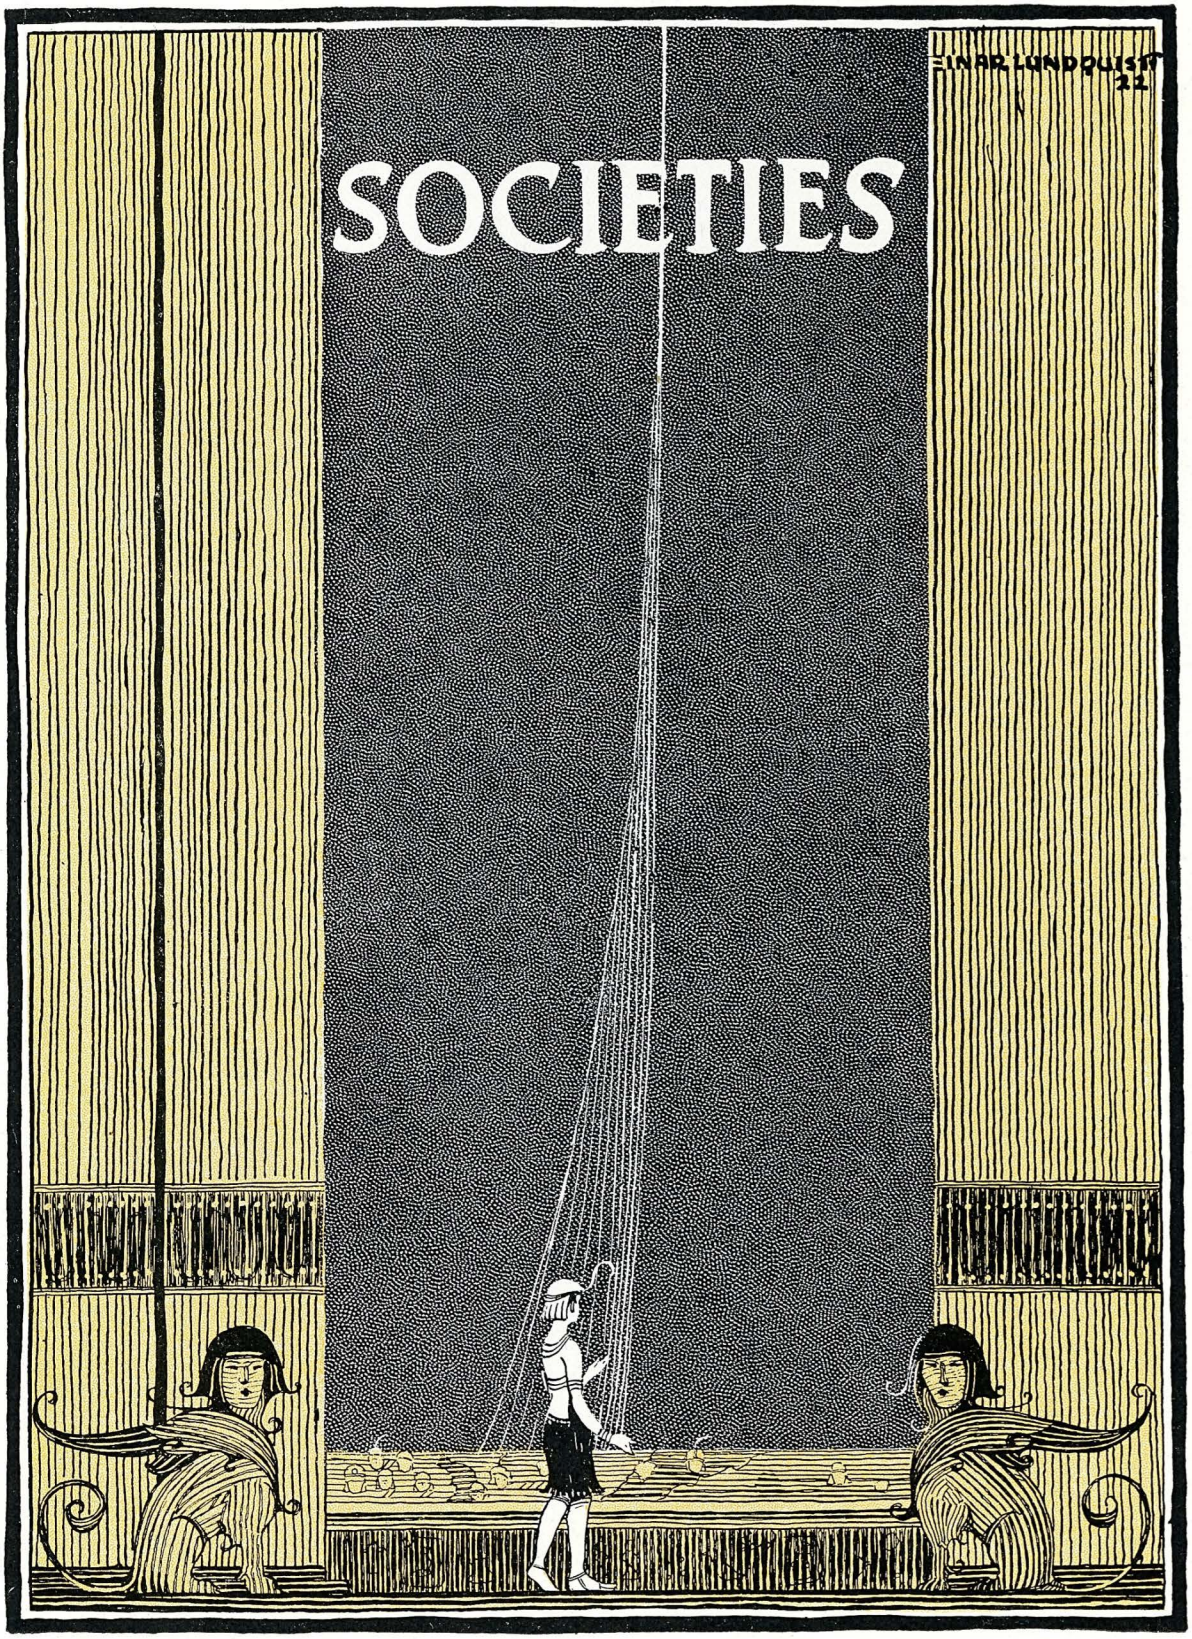

The object of the department is "to get supplies as quickly and as cheaply as possible." Quotations on relative prices of the same article offered for sale by different firms have allowed the department to make comparisons of quality and merit. The result has been a saving of approximately thirty per cent. over the expense entries of other years as far as the purchasing of supplies is concerned.

This department has also assumed active control of the free text book system in all the public schools, and has proved particularly efficient in handling this new school activity. Of the twenty-four hundred students in Rockford High School, over twenty-two hundred have free text books cards on file in the office of the purchasing department. Last year the percentage of free text book users was not so high, due to the fact that many students had already purchased all, or nearly all, the text books they needed for the year. But beginning with last semester, an overwhelming majority of the student body deposited their two-dollar fee and thus signified their intention of taking advantage of the new plan.

There is no doubt but that the purchasing department has come to stay. The accomplishments of the last eighteen months is ample proof of the fact. That the department will be successful in saving still larger amounts in the future as it functions more smoothly is the confident expectation of both the department head and the members of the Board of Education.

The above cut shows an interior and an exterior view of the building erected to house the new department. The building really forms a south wing to the present administration building, and is directly connected with it.

THE STUDENT COUNCILS

Although the early part of the year was marked by little activity on the part of the Boys' and Girls' Student Councils, the closing months of the year saw both organizations welded into smoothly running units.

In the fall, the Student Councils in conjunction with a faculty advisory committee, made up of those faculty members interested in various student activities, set to work to rewrite the regulations governing social affairs in the school. This task, never an easy nor an appreciated one, was so well accomplished that there has been very little friction or complaint from any of the interested parties.

Early in the spring the two Councils sponsored a movement to inaugurate a monitor system in the halls. The response from the student body when the plan was put up to them was about ninety per cent. in favor of it. At this date it is too early to go into detail as to the working of the new system or as to its efficacy in keeping the halls cleared and orderly.

In addition to these two major activities, the Councils have found a number of smaller tasks to do, all calculated to make Rockford High a better institution.

Much of the credit for the work of the Councils is due to Miss Putnam, faculty adviser of the girls', and Mr. Hanna, faculty adviser of the boys' organization.

THE LIBRARY BOARD

"Many words won't fill a bushel," and, of course, it would be a bore to the reader to give a long account of the many virtues of the Library Board. But it is too important to pass over without any remarks.

Four students for each hour were selected by the study hall supervisors to act on the Board under the guidance of Miss Lathrop, library supervisor. It is the duty of the Board to sign and distribute library admits and to shelve books, working in groups of two in order to equalize the work. Sounds simple and unimportant, doesn't it? Well, just imagine trying to find the reference book you want if the books were not kept in certain places. It couldn't be done!

The Board has taken its place with other organizations in putting on stunts during "Good English Week," and at other times, under its very efficient officers. Here they are! Let us cheer them with a right good will.

THE DRAMA CLUB

"I hold the world but as the world,
My friend;
A stage where every man must play his part;
And mine—!

With such philosophical intents, fitting ourselves for this stern world, did three score venturesome souls gather in Room 31 in the early fall and organize the Drama Club. Miss Brady was our guiding star, and our success is due to her untiring efforts.

Believing in the words, "a little child shall lead them," we chose William Everett to be our president; Victoria Bodorff to assist him; Elmer Schmeling to record our deeds; and Louise McGuire to count our ducats.

The club has carved its own tablet in the Hall of Fame. Those privileged to membership will remember its frequent, peppy, interesting meetings. Here dramatic aspirants produced plays, enacted scenes, gave readings, or debated.

The Club, feeling that the public should share in its talent, produced three one-act plays at Rockford theatre December 9, which were enthusiastically received. A dual debate was arranged with East High of Aurora on March 18. On February 17 a dance was given in the boys' gym, and it was one of the successful parties of the year.

The Club believes it has justified its existence and demonstrated the need of such an organization in the school. It is the sincere hope of the organizers that the club may long continue its activities in Rockford High.

THE PHILOMATHEAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Twelve years ago a few ambitious young men got together and organized one of Rockford High School's most active organizations.

The wonderful work accomplished by this society was indeed a great aid to the school. Crack orators and debaters were turned out by the Philos, and they helped the school to win more than one honor in the fields of public speaking.

For the last two years, Philo has been more or less of a dead letter in school life. True, there has been an organization by that name, but an organization without "pep" or activity. The reason can be stated very briefly. Some three years ago evening meetings were abolished; that edict was very near to being the death blow of Philo as it was of our companion society, the Delphics. Boys engaged in athletics or compelled to earn part of their living were barred from attending afternoon meetings. The band, the orchestra, and other organizations also detracted from our membership rolls.

A few of the old members who remembered the old glories of Philo have remained loyal. And to those few have been added also a few new ones who have proved valuable additions. After two years of effort these loyal members have succeeded in again having the privilege of evening meetings. We now look forward to a vigorous and useful future, and another year hope to see Philo restored to its old position of leadership in the school.

The present officers are: President, Stewart Walker; Vice-President, Leslie Wright; Secretary, Minor Conn; Treasurer, Donald Van De Mark; Corresponding Secretary, Gerald Johnson; Censor, Marshall Wood; Assistant Censor, Kenneth Nattrass.

THE DICKENS CLUB

The Dickens Club started this year with a good deal of enthusiasm under the supervision of Miss Solomonson, who succeeded Miss Metcalf, our guide and mentor during our first year of existence.

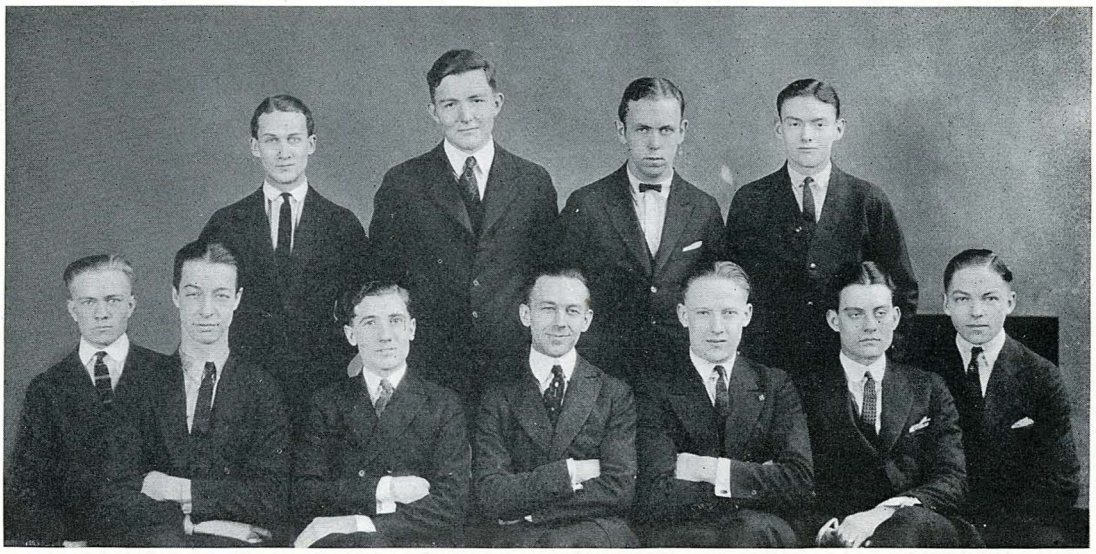

The first of December new members were selected from the English classes. Initiation was held at a party given during the latter part of that month. With the advent of a large number of new members the Dickens Club took on a new lease of life, and the organization began to push things with its old time "pep."

The Club met regularly during the year on the second and fourth Tuesday of the month. A short business meeting was held first, followed by an interesting and instructive program. Refreshments were served at the close of some of the meetings.

The Dickens Club made a few public appearances during the year, one being in Assembly. An original play was presented, dealing with the origin and progress of the Dickens Club.

Although the year has been an interesting and profitable one, we hope next year to have a much bigger membership, and to make the organization even more worth while than it is now.

THE WIRELESS CLUB

The Rockford High School Wireless Club, though not a very often mentioned society in the school, has its place just the same among the organizations of schools of the "Big Seven." Rockford High is the first school in the conference to obtain a government amateur license. Through the diligence of members of former years and the patient strivings of the present members, it was possible to secure the license and the official call, 9BNN.

During the evenings that were spent "listening in" at the club's apparatus, radiophone concerts, government stations, commercial stations, long distance arcs, and many amateur stations were heard.

The apparatus of the club is practically all built by present or former club members. When the club started out several years ago, the members had to start in practically barehanded. Bit by bit the apparatus has been improved and additions made. During the war, the local station, in common with all other amateur outfits, was ordered abandoned by the government. Since the official ban was removed, the local enthusiasts have advanced rapidly, and the new license is ample proof of the prowess they have made.

Officers of the club are as follows: William Cheshire, president; Raymond Lenburg, secretary; and Dayton Keyes, treasurer. The operators of the club are: Dayton Keyes, chief operator; Raymond Lenburg, second operator; and Ernest Storer, third operator. The operators are responsible for the apparatus of the organization.

THE FRENCH CLUB

The French Club was reorganized by the members of the French classes in September, 1921.

The French Club held monthly meetings throughout the year, at which programs in French were given. Many of the meetings closed with the serving of light refreshments. The first school party of the year was sponsored by the French Club, a little French play, "Rosalie," being given in the Auditorium, followed by dancing in the boys' gymnasium.

A play was also given for the Christmas program. "La Demoiselle de France" was the play selected for presentation, and it proved a happy choice. Both "Rosalie" and the Christmas play were coached by Miss Cloutier, and she proved an able and efficient producer. Later in the year another play, "La Surprise d' Isadore," was presented by Miss Bellinghausen's French VI and VII classes.

The purpose of the club is the promotion of the French language among the students. Only those speaking French are eligible to membership in the club. French folk songs and simple readings are part of every program. The club has been very successful this year, and another season ought to find it an even more vital factor in school life.

Officers for the year are as follows: Carol Jonson, president; Ruth Burpee, vice-president; Muriel Walker, secretary; and Genevra Jilson, treasurer.

LES ADMIRATRICES DES BELLES LETTRES

The A. B. L. Literary Society has just completed the second year of its existence. Both years have been extremely successful, and the last year has seen not only a growth in size but in spirit and accomplishments as well. The Senior members of the Club leave a splendid nucleus of Juniors, around which a bigger and better society may yet be built.

Membership in the A. B. L. is not lightly to be acquired. Only Junior and Senior girls are eligible for membership. Furthermore, a recommendation for excellence in English is required from the teachers of prospective candidates before their names will be considered. And finally an affirmative vote of the members is necessary for final confirmation. Such strict requirements naturally mean that the standards of the club are high, and only well qualified girls have a chance for admission.

Miss Remsburg was selected as faculty critic when the society was first organized last year. Last fall she was compelled to resign from this position on account of the press of school work. Miss Remsburg was succeeded by Miss Condit, who served until the end of the first semester, at which time she resigned from the high school faculty. During the closing semester of the year, Miss Mildred McLaughlin has served as critic.

The purpose of the Club, as stated in the constitution, is to "further the appreciation of literary work and public speaking, to advance our standard of intellectual and social culture, and to promote a feeling of good fellowship among the girls."

Meetings are held every other Thursday after school. The programs consist of literary discussions, review of worth while magazine articles, readings, vocal and instrumental selections, and extemporaneous talks. The programs this year have been exceptionally good and instructive.

Les Admiratrices Des Belles Lettres is fast coming to be recognized as one of the leading organizations of R. H. S., and the student body may well be proud that they have such an effective girls' society at work.

The officers of the Club for this year are:

THE AGRICULTURE CLUB

With more than thirty old members back in school, the Agriculture Club lost little time in getting started last fall. To renew good times and to get the boys into the swing of the "Aggie" spirit, the club held an evening picnic at Blackhawk Park early in September. The boys on the stock judging team who had competed in the state contest at the State University in July, related their experiences. Competing with thirty-five teams, many of whom had competed previous years, our boys won second place.

A general school party in the high school gymnasium was given by the club at Hallowe'en time.

In November came the "Father and Son" banquet, attended by seventy-five boys and their fathers. At the banquet, which followed a basket ball game between two picked club teams, Professor A. W. Nolan of the University of Illinois was the principal speaker.

The club sponsored its annual trip to the International Stock Show. The boys spent four days in Chicago this year, visiting many places of interest.

At Christmas time a get-together and feed was held for all former agriculture club members. The ex-members put on the program. Many of the "old grads" told of their experiences in the club in its early years, and also of the things which they have done since leaving school.

Many interesting and educational programs have been given during the year at the regular semi-monthly meetings.

Six members of the club will be chosen at the close of the school year to represent Rockford in the State Stock Judging contests to be held at the State University in the summer.

THE BIOLOGY CLUB

The Biology Club is composed of students who are taking either Botany or Biology now, or who have previously taken one of these interesting subjects.

The semi-monthly programs are held in Room 57 during the winter months and during unpleasant weather. These meetings are interesting as well as instructive, many subjects of interest in such subjects being covered in little informal talks. During the spring and fall a series of field trips take the place of the indoor meetings. These trips enable the members to obtain material for their class work. Refreshments are frequently taken along, so the members have the pleasure of an outing at the same time.

The officers and members have worked hard to raise the club to the highest standard possible, and the successful meetings and interesting field trips as well as the large membership roll show that they have succeeded admirably.

The following people have served the club as officers throughout the year: Burniece D. Jensen, President; Mylrea Shimmin, Vice-President; Evelyn Freedlund, Secretary; Alice Abney, Treasurer.

THE AMAZONS

Last spring after the disbanding of the old Girls' Athletic Club, commonly known as the G. A. C., a new athletic association for girls, "the Amazons," was organized. Miss Lucile Hiserodt, physical director of girls' gymnasium work, was the first faculty critic. Last fall Miss M. Currier, the new physical director, was appointed faculty adviser with Miss Ruth Wilson as her assistant.

According to the plan of the organization, credit is given for participation in hockey, swimming, hiking, baseball, basket ball, tennis, and various other sports. Nor is all of the time devoted to athletics. Parties, picnics, wienie roasts, and "Jim Jinxes" furnished much additional pleasure and entertainment.

Every one of the one hundred twenty-five girls belonging to the club has taken part in at least one sport, and many of them have been active in several different branches. The club has done much to promote and extend an interest in girls' athletics in Rockford High School. While this is the main purpose of the club, no opportunity has been lost to create a feeling of friendliness and good fellowship among the girls of the school.

One innovation of the club this year was the selling of candy and Eskimo pies at the district basket ball tournament at Shrine Temple. Several of the girls volunteered for this work, and furnished themselves with natty red and black uniforms. That the service was popular is amply proved by the many pounds of confections that were sold during the sessions.

The girls in charge of the various sports sponsored by the club this year are as follows: Hockey, Margaret Sjoblom; Swimming, Elizabeth Pierce; and Hiking, Claudine Condon.

The members of the executive committee are: Gertrude Adolph, president; Isabelle Williams, vice-president; Effay Beynon, secretary; and Grace Blakeley, treasurer.

THE ORCHESTRA

Next November the orchestra will celebrate its fourth birthday. Despite the fact that this organization is one of the youngest in the school, it has unquestionably become one of the foremost.

Mr. Bornor, who brought the orchestra into existence four years ago, has served continuously since that time as its director. Under his efficient leadership, a constant growth musically has been assured until now the orchestra ranks as a really high class musical organization. Our annual concert in April, which was attended by a record breaking crowd, was a fine testimonial to the popularity the orchestra has achieved. The concert was an unqualified success, and a number of new stunts were introduced which added a great deal of "pep" to the program.

In January an informal theatre party at the Midway was attended by all the members. Through the courtesy of Mr. Joseph Copeland, director of the Midway orchestra, we had the pleasure of hearing several special numbers, including "The Unfinished Symphony" by Schubert.

This year the orchestra had the honor of being the first musical organization of the high school to give a concert before the membership of the Mendelssohn club. As a recognition of our efforts, the members of the orchestra later attended as the guests of Mendelssohn Club the concert given by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

In March we went out to Kishwaukee where we gave a concert before the Kishwaukee Grange. Incidentally we partook of a chicken supper prepared by the Grange. Was it worth while? Ask anybody who was there.

The annual spring ball was held in April at the high school gymnasium. Preceding the dance, a banquet was served in the lunch room, and it was all that anyone could desire. The event was one that will stand out brightly in our memories of the year. Any member will confirm that statement.

The officers for the past year are: Ruth McCausland, president; Ruth Holmquist, vice-president; Leslie Wright, secretary; and Sam McDowell, treasurer.

THE ORCHESTRA

THE BAND

Freshies come and Seniors go, but the band moves on forever, in spite of the many hardships and crippled condition at the close of each school year. Last year in particular was the band severely crippled, and the few members that remained had to work hard to fill the gaps left by graduation. Even though no summer rehearsals were held, the boys again achieved the one aim of the band, "a better band each year."

Although the band is a school organization, it has attained a higher significance as a civic organization. As a school organization, it supports the school and its activities by playing at the football games, local basket ball games, and the district tournament. Through the financial aid of local clubs, the band was able to accompany the football teams to Elgin. The band has also been very popular in our assemblies during the last year. At every inspection of the R. O. T. C. the band has always been on hand.

The band has acted in the capacity of a civic organization by playing on such occasions as Armistice Day, public parades, and social affairs of the city. It was asked by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce to play at the formal dedication of the arch over the highway at the Wisconsin State line. It was the only band present at this occasion. During the Christmas holidays the band played for the Rotarians at their children's party, and for the Young Men's Business Association at the community Christmas tree.

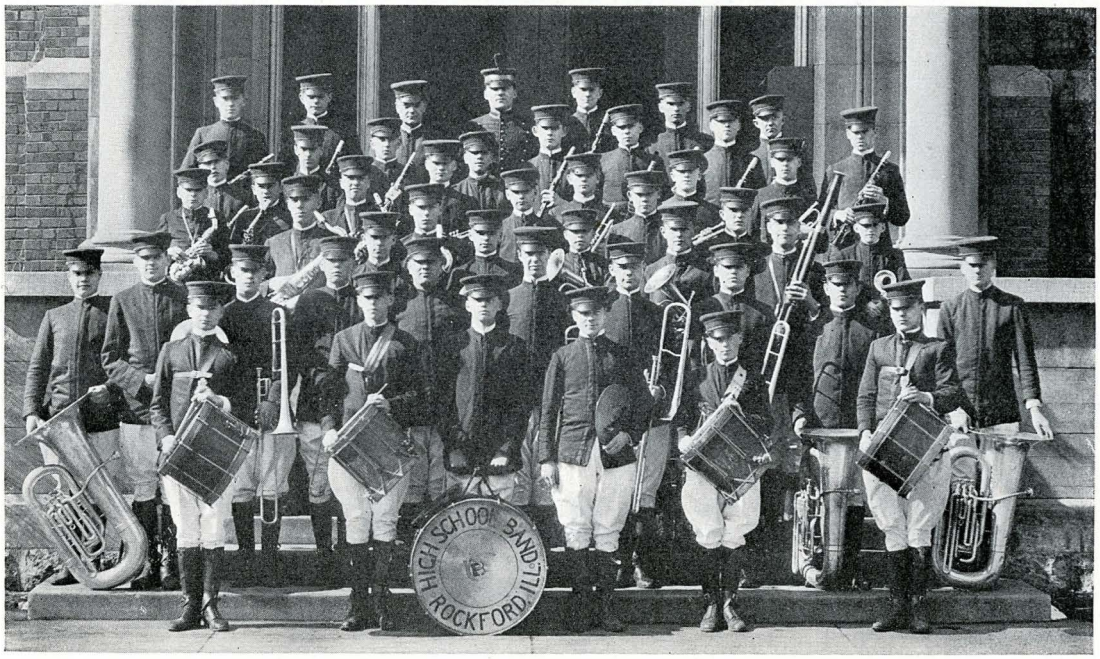

On December twenty-third the band held its fifteenth annual banquet and dance, in the upper lunch room and the boys' gymnasium. This was considered one of the best social functions of the school year. The banquet was well attended, and was pronounced one of the best that the band has ever given.

Never before has the band played so many public concerts as it has this year. The first was given in connection with the Court St. choir at the Court St. M. E. church. The second was given under the auspices of the band and the boys' vested choir of Emmanuel Episcopal church. On April twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth the annual concerts were given in the high school auditorium. These concerts were all a great success, not alone financially, but from the point of accomplishment of the band as a whole. In addition to these concerts, the band brought to the city for one of their justly famed concerts the Lawrence College male glee club. This concert was given March 31, and a good sized audience was in attendance.

At each commencement for the last fifteen years, there has been a noticeable gap left by graduating members, and so again this year the band will be deprived of the services of ten active and efficient members. But at the opening of each new year, by constant practice and hard work, there are boys able to take their places.

This has all been of the band's past record; of the future we know nothing. Even though this year's band has reached a high degree of merit, the future bands will carry on the work to a greater extent, and will continue to make "a better band each year."

THE GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

We feel that this year, under the efficient and capable direction of Miss Marjorie Ely, the girls of Rockford High School have truly awakened to the full value of glee club work. The membership and interest exceeds that of any previous year. A long waiting list of girls who have formed themselves into a Chorus testifies more than anything else to the popularity of glee club work.

A good many public appearances have been made by the club. At the program for the installation of new citizens, the combined glee clubs rendered patriotic music. Before Christmas several Christmas choral numbers were an important part in two assemblies. A carol service was also given in the high school auditorium the Sunday before Christmas. On February 10, 11, 12, twenty members took part in two scenes of "The Torchbearers," a pageant given by the Woman's Club at their theater. On April 7 the entire club gave a concert for the Rockford College Association at the Rockford Woman's Club. The Sunday of the baccalaureate service is usually the last appearance of the year.

Late last spring the two glee clubs presented a Chinese operetta, "Little Almond Eyes." Encouraged by the success of the undertaking, the clubs will furnish a miscellaneous program this spring.

Socially the girls have been well amused. The president, Elsie Ritter, entertained the members at a Hallowe'en party at her home in Winnebago. Then, too, the usual picnics and pot luck suppers have been interspersed throughout the year.

The officers for this year are: Elsie Ritter, president; Gladys Nulty, vice-president; Florence Cope, secretary; Myrna Fraser, treasurer; Dorothy Andrew and Ruth Holmquist, librarians; Mildred Sharp, reporter; Marion Redin, accompanist; and Miss Ely, director.

THE BOYS' GLEE CLUB

The Boys' Glee Club is, as the name implies, a club made up exclusively of male voices. A club of this kind is a never failing bidder for public approval; the people like it. The sentiment that a band of boys can weave into a song is sure to reach the hearts of the audience.

In school this year the club has accomplished a great deal, considering the fact that we are in the throes of practice necessary to becoming a good organization. In conjunction with the girls' club, we presented programs at two assemblies, and gave a Christmas carol service.

Another thing that put the club prominently in the minds of the student body was an assembly given last fall. The club quartet gave several numbers, and then the club as a whole appeared. Every one seemed pleased with the assembly, and we hope to make further bids for their approval before the end of the year.

We have had our share of social activity, too. The most pretentious affair with which we were connected was a dancing party in the boys' gymnasium early in the fall. It was a thoroughly enjoyable affair.

We in the glee club feel that it is not we who have set ourselves on the fair road to success. At the beginning of the year we were pretty raw material. We feel that Miss Ely, our director, has accomplished the almost seemingly impossible, and molded us into a passable glee organization. We do not feel that we can frame a suitable tribute in words to her ability. We will leave the task to the more capable hands of the reader.

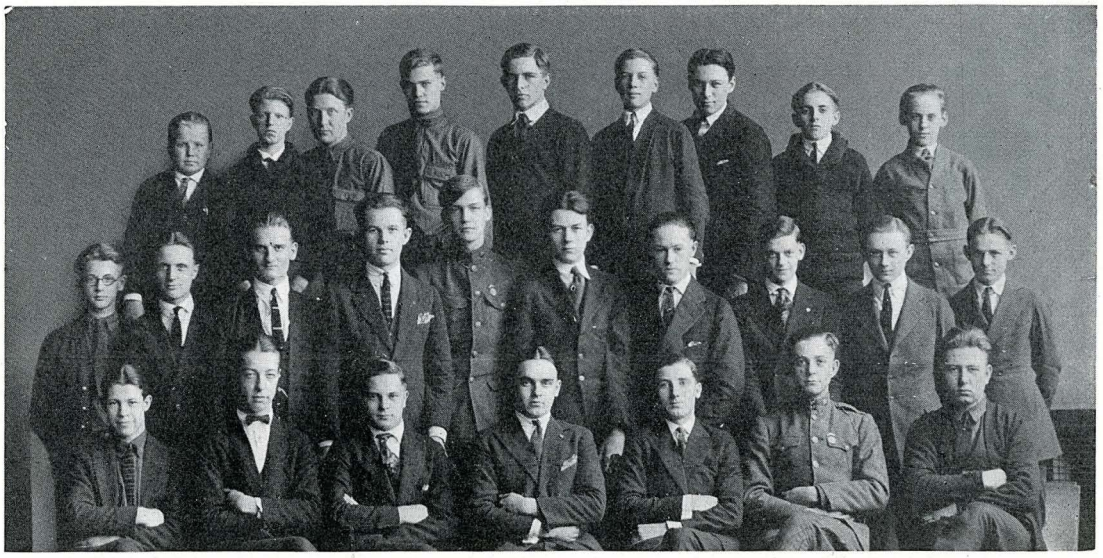

The officers of the club are: Reed Andress, president; Leslie Wright, vice-president; Orren Purdue, secretary; LaVerne Sawdey, treasurer; Leslie Dunlap, librarian; Marion Redin, accompanist.

THE GIRLS' CHORUS

The Girls' Chorus is really a preparation class for the Girls' Glee Club. The second semester the enrollment of the chorus included forty-five girls. This is very encouraging, for it insures our being able to fill any vacancies in the Glee Club personnel at any time, and with trained voices.

TELEGRAM

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7, 1921.

Captain Harold H. Fisher,
Rockford High School,
Rockford, Illinois.

Rockford High School designated by War Department as Honor High School. Have maintained especially high standards of military training and of soldierly discipline.

HARRIS,
Adjutant General.

R. O. T. C.—ROCKFORD HIGH SCHOOL UNIT

The above telegram received at the very beginning of the school year announced to the student body that Rockford High School had been named as having not only one of the best units in the Sixth Army Corps area, but one of the nine best in the entire United States. We'll say that this is an honor, and one that the corps has long been striving for.

With this recognition as an incentive, the corps started work with a determination to win the honor again this year. It looks now as though the labor of the year would be rewarded, for Major Nelly, inspecting officer, imparted the information after a recent inspection that if the work kept up throughout the year there was little doubt but that the local unit would retain their honors for another year at least.

During the last year, under the instruction of Captain H. H. Fisher and First Sergeant William Blake, the Reserve Officers' Training Corps has made rapid headway, numerous extensions, additions and enlarged course combining to make the period of 1921–22 the best in local military annals.

In the last ten months the battalion has been offered a larger scope of work, at the same time detailed and easy to grasp. First, close order drill, then gallery firing, patrolling, map reading, range finding, and finally close order drill made up the year's program.

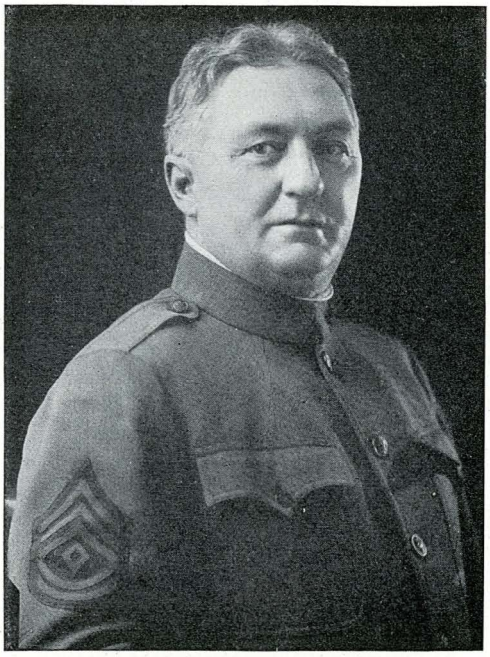

Work on the gallery range after a theoretical course brought about the selection of a battalion rifle team which engaged in a telegraphic shooting meet with Morgan Park Academy. For the first time "R's" with crossed rifles below were awarded to members of the team. Besides valuable work by the regular rifle team, a large number of students received pro-marksman's and Marksman's medals.

The annual military ball held December 16 in the boys' gymnasium was recognized by those who attended as the greatest social event of the year.

From every angle, therefore, students of the R. O. T. C. are able to claim that the year just passed is the greatest in local military history, and a year that from the standpoint of quality will be hard for the cadets of future years to duplicate.

"OUR COACHES"

Coach Beyer

Rockford high school has every reason to be proud, not only of the fine athletic teams which have been turned out here year after year, but of its fine physical training department as well. Much of the credit for our fine showing in both departments is due to Charles A. Beyer, director of athletics.

Mr. Beyer came to the local school in 1912, and served continuously until 1919 as coach and instructor. In 1919 he went to Cleveland where he spent a year as military instructor in one of the big high schools in that city. The following year he served as athletic director at Lawrence College, his alma mater, but the lure of old R. H. S. was too great and last year saw him back with us once more.

As a coach, Mr. Beyer long since won a place for himself in the hearts of Rockford people. He has the faculty of turning out a good team from the most unpromising material. Not every one of his teams has won a championship, but all have demonstrated real ability and have been generally feared around the conference. The lightweight football team captured the premier honors in the conference last fall, and the basket ball team came mighty close to annexing the lightweight honors.

Track and swimming have also come in for a large amount of attention, and their old-time popularity seems to be returning. Last year we had our first track team since the "Big Seven" was organized, and the squad came within one point of annexing the conference title last spring. Swimming is too young in R. H. S. yet for us to make definite statements, but we are expecting great things.

This is the second year that "Mac" has served as heavyweight coach, and they have been mighty successful years, too. We have come to believe that a team coached by E. U. McDonald can win most anything.

Under the skillful tutelage of "Mac," the heavies have made records for themselves in both football and basket ball. In the former sport we were runners-up to Elgin, and lost to them only by the tight score of 6–0. The title game was played on a field half submerged, which did not allow either team to play up to form. We feel confident that "Mac's" charges would have made the game even closer if the field had been dry.

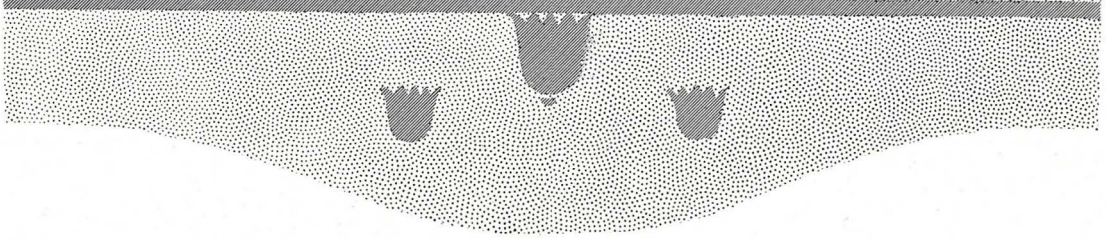

To send two teams to a state tournament in two years as a coach is a basket ball record that few can match. That the squad did not do better than take third place in the state meet was a matter of keen regret to hundreds of loyal fans, but the breaks of luck kept three of our best and fastest men off the floor at that time.

This year is the first time that a red and black basket ball squad has ever been invited to play in the national prep tournament conducted by the University of Chicago. We are expecting the boys to make a showing there, and, with "Mac" along, they will.

FOOTBALL

THE LIGHTWEIGHT SEASON

Never before in the history of the lightweight team has such marked enthusiasm for their work and such eager interest in their games been manifested by local followers of the sport. This year was a banner year for them in every respect, despite the fact that they were compelled to play the greater part of the season without the services of their captain, "Yago" Swenson. They won the conference title handily on the local field by decisively defeating the strong Freeport eleven.

When the call for football sounded last fall, it seemed as though every boy in school weighing under one hundred forty pounds was a candidate for the team, and for the first five or six weeks there were five or six teams working out every day. Coach Beyer soon picked out the cream of the bunch, and a fast and shifty team was speedily rounded into form.

That the team was a well balanced one is amply proved by the scores, for they look more like the records of a track team than a football eleven. They showed their strength in the first game of the season when they beat the Beloit lights on the home lot. Marengo came the following week with a well press agented team. The locals worked hard in anticipation of a hard fought game, and surprised themselves as well as the spectators with the ease and smoothness with which they swamped the touted visitors. Joliet was the next victim to invade the city, and they, too, were snowed under.

It remained for the East Aurora lights to throw a real scare into the local camp. Although they were the invaders, the East Aurora men played a whale of a game, and the crimson squad considered themselves lucky to pull the game out of the fire by the tight score of 8 to 6. It was the one real close game of the season.

That score spurred the ponies to greater efforts, and the following Saturday they traveled to West Aurora where they were able to score practically at will. Elgin came next, and were subdued only after a hard fight, the final whistle showing a score of 13 to 6. The playing field was in a miserable condition following a hard all-day rain, and speedy team work by either team was utterly out of the question. DeKalb was subdued the following week in a one-sided game in which Rockford did all the scoring.

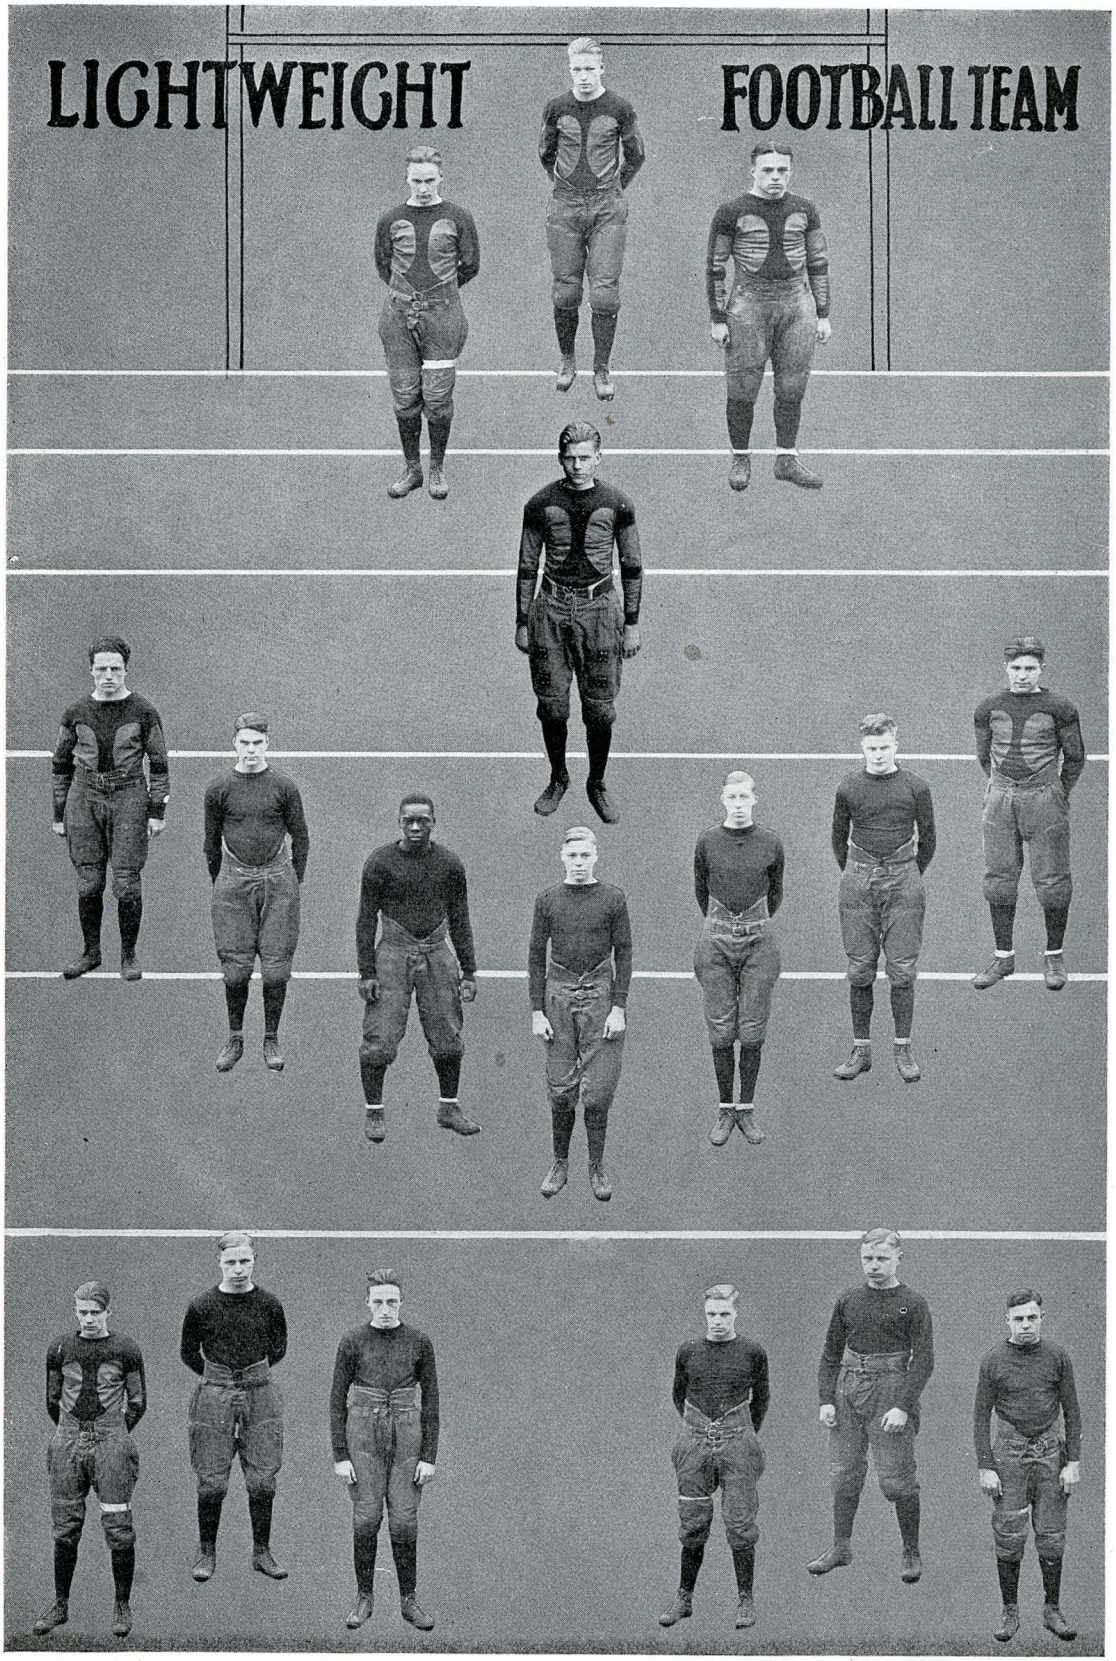

Freeport ended the conference season, the game being played on Rockford's field. Although Freeport won the title last year and were generally regarded as being about on a par with the Rockford squad, the game proved the dopesters all wrong. It was a hard and bitter struggle played in a mud quagmire, but our boys emerged victors by a score of 26 to 15.

The fans refused to be satisfied with winning a conference title, and clamored for more. As a result, the strong Crane lightweights were brought to Rockford for the closing game of the season. They were runners-up for the Cook county championship, losing the title by one point, but in spite of that fact the Rabs had little difficulty in downing them, 20 to 0.

LIGHTWEIGHT FOOTBALL TEAM

THE HEAVYWEIGHT SEASON

The heavyweight season just passed was one of the most successful ever enjoyed by the Red and Black, in spite of the fact that practically all of the games were played on muddy fields. Scoring a large number of points and having our goal line crossed but four times, the team, under the leadership of Captain "Duke" Fridly, made a showing that would compare favorably with the records of the best teams in the state.

Starting out the season with but a small squad of men, and only four of these "R" men, the outlook for a winning team was anything but bright. The squad lacked beef in the line, but was overflowing with light and speedy backfield material. On the face of things it looked as if little could be expected of such a team, but the men showed that what they lacked in beef they made up for in speed and fighting spirit.

The first game of the season was with Crane Tech of Chicago, and before the game they were accorded the odds on account of weight and preponderance of experienced men. The test saw the Rabs emerge 12 to 6 victors, a real proof of their mettle. This victory proved an inspiration to the team, and the machine began to work more smoothly.

The following week we tackled another of Chicago's finest in Lane Tech, and when the smoke of battle raised we were once more victors to the tune of 22 to 0.

Then the conference games succeeded each other in rapid succession. The eleven traveled to Joliet for the opening game of the season, winning 17 to 7 after a strenuous fight. East Aurora visited us the next week, and they certainly handed us a scare. The field was wet and muddy, and that handicapped our light line considerably, though we managed to scrape out a 13 to 7 victory eventually. West Aurora was our next host, and we found their eleven a scrappy bunch of warriors, capable of a stern fight; we conquered them in the end by a 20 to 7 score.

Then came the never to be forgotten title game with Elgin on their gridiron. A steady rain fell all day, and by the time the game was called the field was inches deep under water in many places. The game was in the nature of a dedication affair, as this was the first contest to be staged on Elgin's new gridiron. We will never forget the occasion, though it nearly ruined the field. Rockford rooters turned out en masse in spite of the weather, and a spectator would have found it hard to tell from the size of the relative cheering sections whether the scene of battle was Elgin or Rockford.

The game was full of thrills, but lacked long and sensational runs. After playing nearly a full game with neither team scoring, Elgin managed to block a Rockford punt and a maroon player fell on the ball behind the line for the only score of the game. A few minutes later the whistle signified the end of the game and our only defeat of the season.

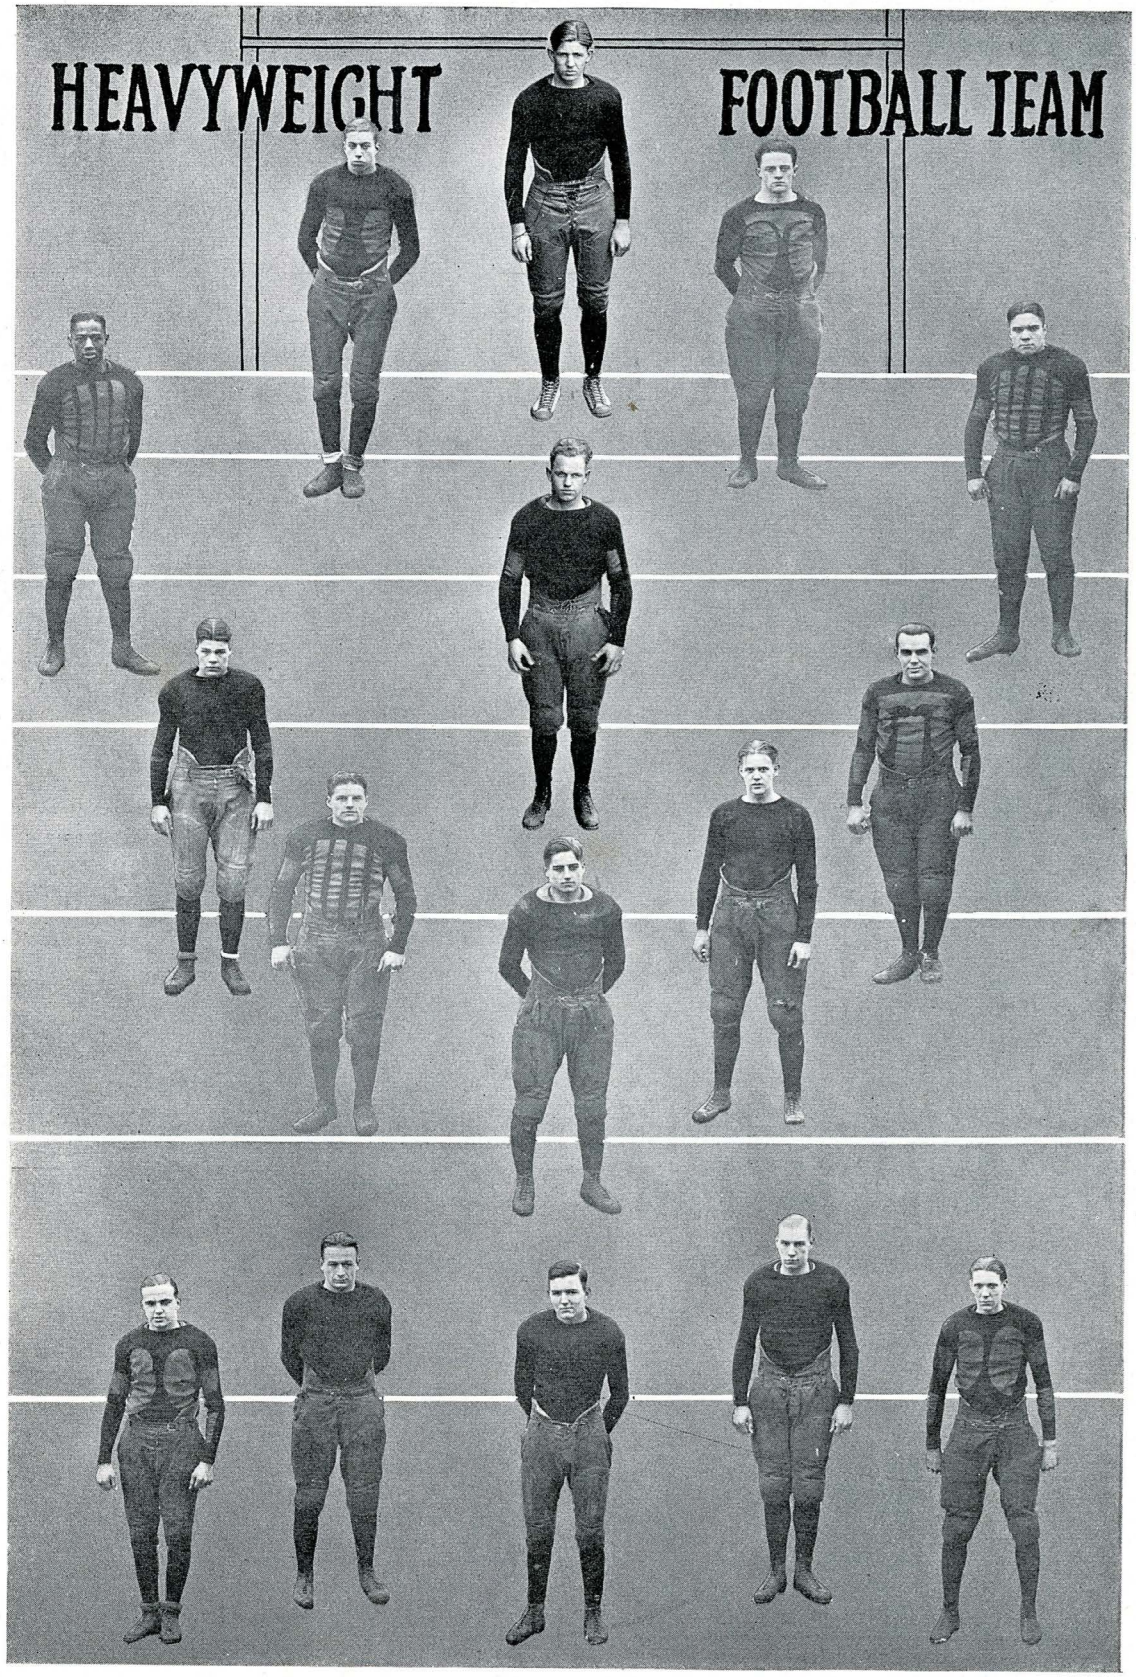

Our failure to trounce Elgin did not dishearten us; in fact, we played harder than ever as later scores show. DeKalb came, saw, and was conquered, 74 to 0. Freeport, playing the final game of the conference season, went home on the short end of a 41 to 0 score.

Thanksgiving Day usually sees the best game of the season, and it was true again this season. Rock Island sent up a strong team to furnish the opposition, and they brought an enviable record of victories with them. The game was only a few minutes old before it became clear that Rock Island's prides were doomed to defeat, the final count being 20 to 0. The only serious accident of the season came in this game when Baker, after two seasons without a single minute out for injuries and with only five minutes of the game left, suffered a broken ankle.

HEAVYWEIGHT FOOTBALL TEAM

BASKETBALL

THE LIGHTWEIGHT SEASON

Coach Beyer was confronted at the beginning of the season with the apparently hopeless proposition of making a good basket ball team out of the conglomeration of boys who thronged the gym through the first days of the season. By dint of much pruning and weeding, the squad was reduced to fifteen men, only four of whom were experienced.

The first game of the season was with Pecatonica, and the ponies then and there demonstrated that they meant to make the other conference teams work if they were to be victorious over Rockford. The Alumni game came next, and the lights were able to nose out their older opponents by a close score. Freeport came over the following week for a practice game, but they, too, were defeated.

Two games were played in two successive weeks with the Beloit lights, but the locals proved their superiority by taking the measure of their opponents in both contests. DeKalb was also taken on this second week, and they were the first conference victims of the year. New Trier, a suburb of Chicago and a new rival of Rockford came out the following week, and at their hands the ponies suffered their first defeat of the season.

At this stage of the season a jinx seemed to hit the local ponies, and their playing was very erratic—at times brilliant, and then again very mediocre. East Aurora took us on for a game on their own floor, and, although they were an inferior team, they managed to take us into camp. A non-conference game with Elgin the next night resulted in a decisive Red and Black victory. New Trier was given a return game, and they managed to pile up a runaway score of 42 to 24.

Late in the season Elgin came here for a conference game, and, although they were considered the under dog, they managed to annex the game by the margin of one basket. A week later the Rabs closed the conference season by defeating Freeport's lights on their own floor. The lightweight title was annexed by East Aurora as a result of this victory.

To wind up the season, Coach Beyer brought out the classy Crane lightweight squad, but the crimson basket shooters were on that night and took Crane into camp easily.

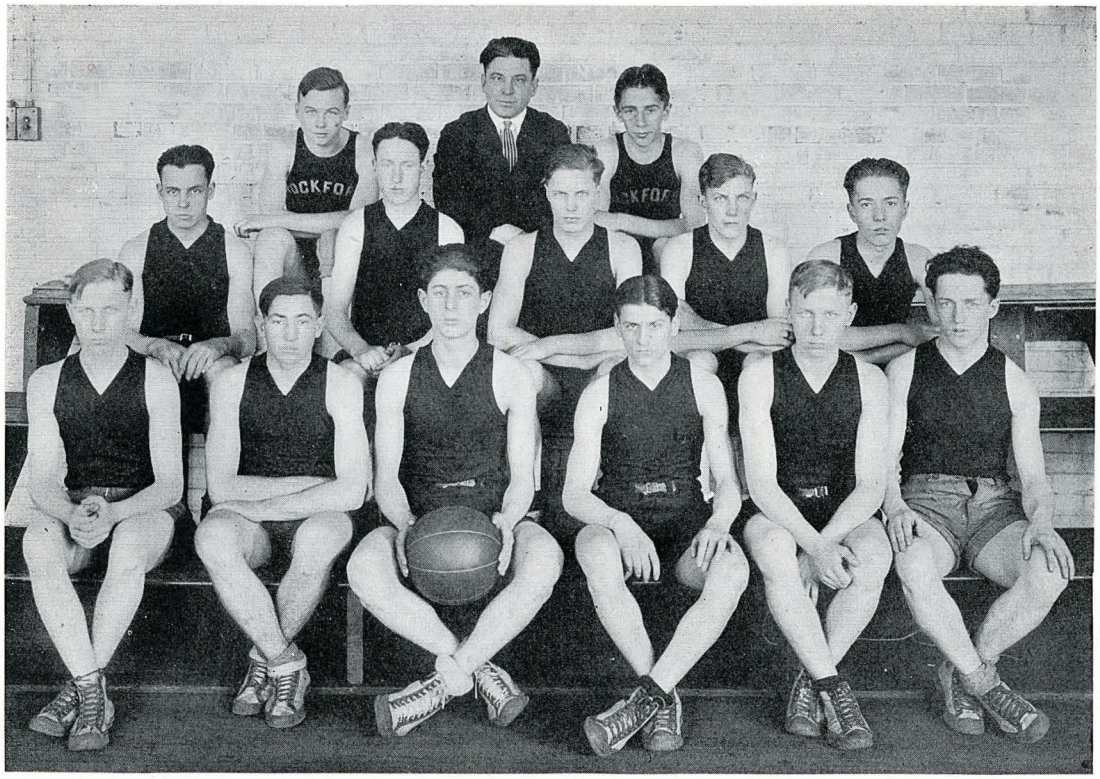

Behr and R. Johnson were named at the close of the season on the honorary all-conference team, an honor which they certainly deserved.

The men who composed the squad this year are: R. Brolin, Alberts, Behr, Monti, C. Brolin, D. Anderson, Flannery, McCue, C. Countryman, R. Johnson, Andrews, McCoy, and W. Countryman.

THE HEAVYWEIGHT SEASON

The prospects at the beginning of the season for a good basket ball team seemed remarkably bright, and for once the dope bucket contained satisfactory material, for the season has certainly been a fine one. With Captain Carlson, an all state guard, to lead the squad, and with Miltimore, Gleichman, Nelson, Garrett, and Fridley to form its nucleus, even the loss of Baker was looked upon with some degree of equanimity. Added to this nucleus before the season was more than a few days old were Stevens, Kullberg, and Hubbard, every one of them a "find."

In the first game against Crane, the team showed all kinds of speed, winning 26 to 18. The alumni, led by the redoubtable Enright, were outclassed 38 to 29. Freeport came to Rockford about this time for a practice game. They got it, and went home on the short end of a 28 to 14 score. Beloit heavies got in two games at this time, but went down to defeat 41 to 4 on their own floor, and 36 to 18 a week later at Shrine Temple.

DeKalb furnished the opposition in the opening conference game, and their 50 to 28 defeat started the season off with a bang. Joliet was the first conference team to play here, and they were given a 30 to 19 trimming. The fast New Trier team, coming from near Chicago, were taken on for two practice games during the middle of the season. The first game played at Shrine Temple resulted in a 34 to 23 victory for the Rabs, and the second game a couple of weeks later on the New Trier floor saw the Rabs annex another victory, 32 to 23.

East Aurora furnished the next conference opposition, and they very nearly slipped something over on us. The final score was 23 to 21 in favor of the Rabs. A practice game with Elgin the following night on their floor resulted in a 32 to 22 score for the red and black. West Aurora dropped out 36 to 19, and then the Maroons invaded our territory on mischief bent. It was a great game, but the final whistle showed Rockford leading by a comfortable ten point margin, 33 to 23.

Such a long string of victories brought its own consequences. We went to Freeport for a conference tilt, and were much surprised to have to take the short end of a 26 to 18 trimming. That defeat put us in a technical tie with Elgin for first place, although we had twice beaten that team. The squad came back against the strong Clinton, Illinois, team, and stopped them with a 39 to 29 score. Mt. Carroll and Mt. Morris were brought here for two heavyweight games on the same night, with the object of giving the fellows a little practice for the district tournament games. The former team was snowed under, 56 to 19, but the latter kept close on the heels of the Rabs, much to the surprise of the fans, the final score being 32 to 28.

The five suffered one serious setback at the close of the first semester when the captain, Wesley Carlson, was declared ineligible because of failure to carry the requisite amount of school work.

The men who made the team are: Wesley Carlson, captain; Ralph Baker, acting captain; Elmer Stevens, Carl Miltimore, William Hubbard, William Garrett, Harold Gleichman, C. Nelson, H. Nelson, George Fridley, and Fred Kullberg.

THE DISTRICT TOURNAMENT

The district tournament this year was very unsatisfactory in many ways. The district was changed to accommodate several new districts, and the result was that the local meet did not offer the competition of former years. Freeport was given a tournament of her own, which took that school off the local floor as well as several other schools usually turning out good teams. For the first time in history, the district tournament failed to draw capacity crowds and to net a comfortable profit.

The Rabs worked their way up to the finals with ease. In the final game of the tournament they defeated New Milford. Although New Milford is only a small school with barely ten boys enrolled, they undoubtedly had the strongest team in the tournament, next to our own. Three of the Rabs were recognized for positions on the all star tournament team.

THE SECTIONAL TOURNAMENT

When the sectional tournament pairings were made for the Aurora meet, Rockford drew a bye, so the squad was not compelled to get into action until the semi-finals on Saturday afternoon.

Elgin fought its way into the semi-finals by defeating Joliet. Saturday afternoon saw them hooked up for their last go with the Rabs this season. The game was a hard fought one from start to finish, but for the third consecutive time the Rabs demonstrated their superiority, winning 32 to 22.

New Trier won the other set in the semi-finals, so the finals saw Rockford and New Trier matched for the third time this year. This game was no less hard fought than the afternoon battle, but Rockford slowly but surely forged ahead, ending the fourth period with a 34 to 24 score.

The work of the squad in winning the sectional tournament was especially notable due to the fact that both Miltimore and Kullberg were sick and unable to accompany the team. Entering the tournament as the under dogs, they determined to bring back the victory in spite of the bad break in luck which they had suffered. And their fighting spirits turned the trick.

THE STATE TOURNAMENT

For the fifth consecutive time the Rabs appeared on the University of Illinois floor as participants in a state tournament. They were matched for the first game of the set with Centralia, generally regarded as being the strongest team entered, unless it were our own squad.

Centralia has a fine team, and they played a clever game. The Rabs seemed to suffer an attack of "buck fever," and all the dash and fight that had carried them to victory at the sectional meet a week earlier was lacking. Getting away to a bad start, the first quarter saw the score standing at 8 to 4 in favor of Centralia. At half time the Rabs had fought into a 12 to 12 tie. In the third quarter Centralia broke loose, and the score mounted to 22 to 15 when the period ended. In the final stanza, the Rabs fought on equal terms, point for point, but they couldn't overcome the lead, the final whistle showing the score to be 31 to 23 in favor of Centralia.

The following night the Rabs came back strong and defeated Peoria in a scintilating game, 45 to 26, winning third honors for themselves. The state title was clinched by Centralia when they defeated Atwood in the final round.

THE NATIONAL TOURNAMENT

The Rabs have received an invitation from Alonzo A. Stagg to participate in the national prep basket ball tournament the first week in April. Participation is by invitation only, and only those teams recognized as being among the best in the country are invited. It is, naturally, then, an honor to be invited. About twenty-five teams from all over the United States will compete.

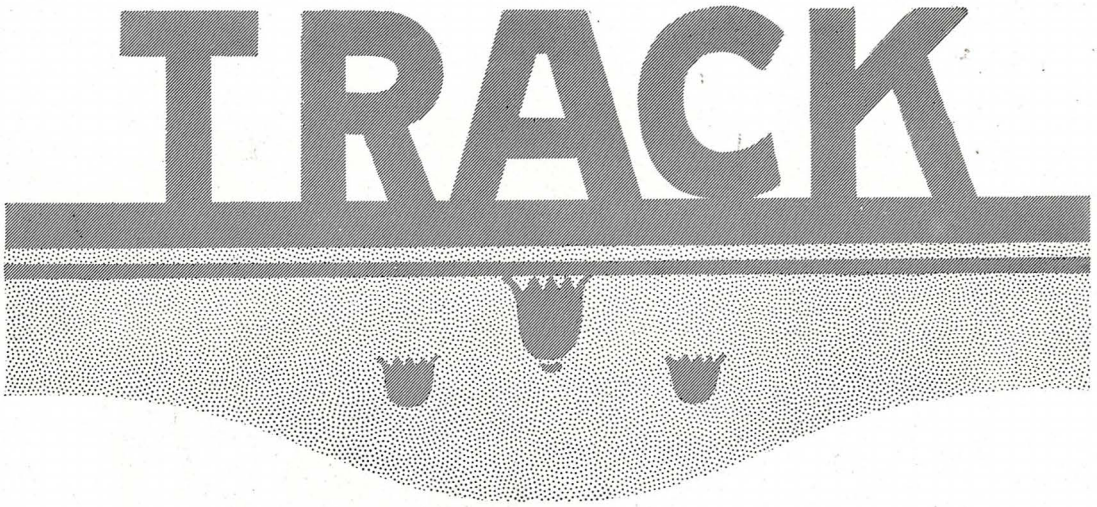

With Kullberg and Miltimore back in the lineup, we feel that the Rabs will have a very good chance to land pretty high on the list. Centralia has also been invited, and nothing would delight us more than to try our ability against theirs when we have our best lineup on hand.

THE REVIVAL IN TRACK

For the first time in a number of years, Rockford High School, in the spring of 1921 put forth a track team that was worthy of the name. For a number of years there has been so little track work as to hardly make it worth while to dignify it with a name or to consider it a major sport. And during those years all efforts to revive interest in the sport were unfruitful.

In 1921, through the earnest efforts of Mr. Beyer, a number of boys were interested to the point of getting out regularly and practicing faithfully. A track team can not be made in a year. Unlike many of the other sports, constant endeavor over a period of years is necessary before any great results can be seen. Perhaps the greatest thing accomplished last year was the revival of interest in the sport, and the daily workouts of a large squad of candidates.

Two meets were staged at home last spring—one with Oregon and the other with Elgin. In addition to these two meets, the team made a number of trips, including meets at the University of Illinois, Oregon, Beloit, and the conference track meet at East Aurora. The squad did not make a particularly good showing, considering the season as a whole, except at the conference meet at Aurora. There the Rabs were considered about the weakest squad entered, but when they began to pull down firsts and seconds and to lead the list of contestants, opinions were hurriedly revised. We lost the meet by the narrow margin of one point, due to the fact that there were several events in which we did not have a man entered.

The team last year included J. Anderson, C. Redin, R. Milliman, H. Swenson, C. Hutchins, C. Swenson, D. Anderson, W. Thompson, C. Cassidy, M. Christopherson, J. Shaw, E. Westerlind, R. Baker, M. Page, H. Gleichman, and W. Hayes.

When the call went out in February of this year, about twenty men reported for training, which we consider a pretty fair showing for so early in the season. Most of the men from last year's squad were back, so the team ought to do even better this year than it did last spring. Many of the boys have kept in training all winter, which ought to improve their form for the season.

The first meet of the season was the indoor meet at Northwestern University, March 24 and 25. Several men qualified for the finals in their events, but the only man to place was Cassidy, who took second place in the mile.

Coach Beyer is planning on having a number of other meets during the spring, and the season promises to be a very busy one. It is expected that Oregon, Freeport and East Aurora will be brought here for dual meets. The latter part of April a team will be sent to Elgin for a dual meet.

A team will be sent to the Beloit Interscholastic meet on May 6, and May 19 and 20 the squad will be in Urbana to participate in the University of Illinois Interscholastic meet. The conference meet will be held this year at Elgin on May 27.

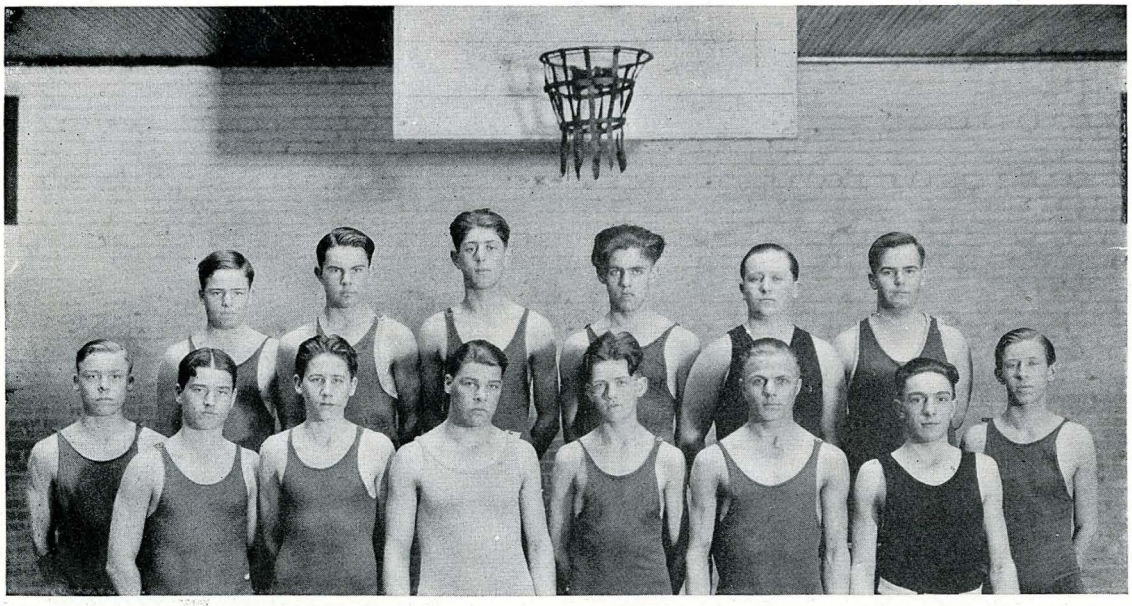

It is hoped by the members of the squad that they will succeed in making this one of the most successful seasons the Red and Black has ever known on the cinders.

THE SEASON

This year as never before in the history of our school, swimming has been taken up as a competitive sport. Swimming is also one of the forms of sport which can not be developed in a single year. It takes two or three years to make a good swimmer into a competitive swimmer. The starts and turns take a great deal of time and practice to master.

During the winter Coach Beyer held a number of after school meets, and quite a number of fellows competed in them. The records made were nothing wonderful, if, indeed, they could be called records, but a number of boys became interested in the sport and qualified for the team. As most of them are underclassmen, it is hoped that within another year or two the Rabs will be able to make a showing in water sports.

Only one meet will be entered this year—the interscholastic meet held by Northwestern University late in March. The men who will compose the Rabs' tank team will be D. Dean, E. Austin, E. Storer, H. Halstead, F. Ryan, I. Meshkoff, and L. Behr. Although our prospects of winning any events this year are very slight, the experience will aid the boys greatly in future contests of the kind.

—1922—

Mr. Sod Cross will spend his summer lecturing the general Public on the advant-ages of scientific appliances in the home.

Mr. Harold Redmon will Mot'or extensively this summer. Mr. Redmon is an enthusiastic motorist and will spend most of the summer at the wheel!

Mr. Einar Lundquist has accepted a high position with the art staff of Arrow Horse-collar Co Mr Lundquist will devote his time mainly to out-of-door painting, and will have several men under him.

Mr. Elmer Stevens will spend the summer on his father's estate near Stratford-on-the-Rock Mr. Stevens is a keen judge of horse flesh — having followed the ponies since early yourth

Mr. George Skeyhan will spend his annual vacation fishing in Alaskan waters. Mr. Skeyhan is quite an authority on fish— particularly the salmon.

They Should Call Him That

Little Paul Jones: "Why do they call the parson 'neverend'?"

K. C. Jones: "Why, they call him 'Reverend.' "

L. P. J.: "Well, I thought he'd never end today."

Heard in Typewriting

"John, where are the C's on the keyboard?"

"Er, just before the D's."

Keep the Change

Newsboy to High School Teacher: "Never mind the money, mister; I always help the poor."

Anxious to Please

D. Carveth: "What is the date, please?"

Mr. McCleneghan: "Never mind the date; the exam is more important."

D. C.: "Well, sir, I wanted to have something right."

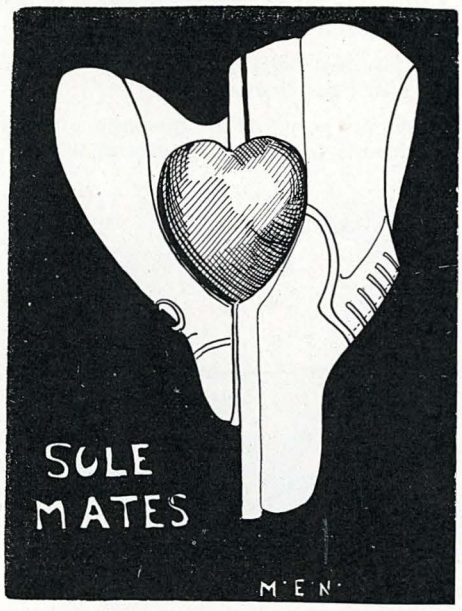

Proper Mourning

Elbert Cormack: "Why are you wearing that sombre black hat?"

Kenneth Olson: "In mourning for one of my teachers."

E. C.: "Then why don't you wear a black tie, too?"

K. O.: "He's only dead from the neck up."

No Title Needed

Queer, Indeed

Lawrence K.: "Isn't that man queer looking; he has Pullman teeth."

Burnett R.: "What do you mean, Pullman teeth?"

L. K.: "One upper and one lower."

It Sounds Reasonable

Jim Marberry: "Why does Tennyson compare life with a game of chess?"

Sod Cross: "Probably spent most of it chasing some other fellow's queen."

What Kind of Examination?

Wes: "What's the matter; you're all scarred up?"

Don: "I fell down in an examination."

Ain't Nature Wonderful?

C. Gruner: "Don't go. You are leaving me entirely without reason."

L. Paulson: "I always leave things as I find them."

It Made a Difference

Negro: "Ah wants foh tuh buy a razah."

Clerk: "For shaving or for social purposes?"

Quite Appropriate

Paul Conklin: "Will you please take dictation for a letter to my wife?"

Miss Purdy: "Wait a minute until I get a soft pencil."

In Spite of Father

Jimmie: "I must marry you—."

Winnie: "Have you seen father?"

Jimmie: "Often, dearest, but I love you just the same."

Hold 'Em, Rockford

By Request

Mr. Trautman (dining at high class restaurant): "Do you ever play anything by request?"

Delighted Musician: "Often, sir!"

Mr. T.: "Then I wonder if you will play dominoes until I have finished my lunch?"

He Knew What He Wanted

Clerk in Department Store: "Do you want Mennen's?"

Italian (buying toilet powder): "No, wimmin's."

Clerk (in disgust): "Oh, I know that, but do you want it scented?"

Italian: "No, sir, I'll take it with me."

Any Fool Would Know

"Bake" was a little late in getting to the depot when the basket ball squad entrained for Chicago en route to Stagg's national prep tournament. He made the ticket window in two jumps.

"Quick, give me a round trip ticket," he gasped.

"Where to?" asked the ticket chopper.

"B-b-back here, you fool," was Bake's wise comeback.

Very Possible

Emil Johnson:—"What is on at the movies tonight?"

Donald Peacock:—"Wm. S. Hart in 'Nothing.'"

Emil J:—"Anything else on?"

Don P:—"Yes; I think the lights will come on between reels."

Delayed Bits From the War Zone

The following are excerpts from correspondence received by the War Risk Bureau during the war:

"I ain't got no book learning and I am writing for inflammation."

"Just a line to let you know that I am a widow and four children."

"He was inducted into the surface."

"I have a few months' old baby and he is my only support."

"I was discharged from the army for a goiter which was sent home for."

"As i needed his assistance to keep me enclosed."

"I am left with a baby seven months old as she is a child she can't work."

"I received $61 and I am certainly provoked tonight."

"I received my insurance polish and have since moved my postoffice."

"I am his wife and only air."

"You ask for my allotment number. I have four boys and two girls."

"I am writing in a Y. M. C. A. with a piano playing in my uniform."

"Please return my marriage certificate, the baby hasn't eaten in three days."

"Both sides of my parents are old and worn."

"You have taken my man away to fight and he was the best fighter I ever had."

"My boy has been put in charge of a spittoon. Will I get more money?"

"I have not received my husband's pay and will be forced to lead an immortal life."

Two Minds With But a Single Thought

Frosh

"Alas! regardless of their doom,
The little victims play;
No sense have they of ills to come,
No care beyond today."

We Believe It

Barber:—"Your hair is getting gray, sir."
W. Kasch:—"Well, I'm not surprised. Hurry up!"

What a Loss

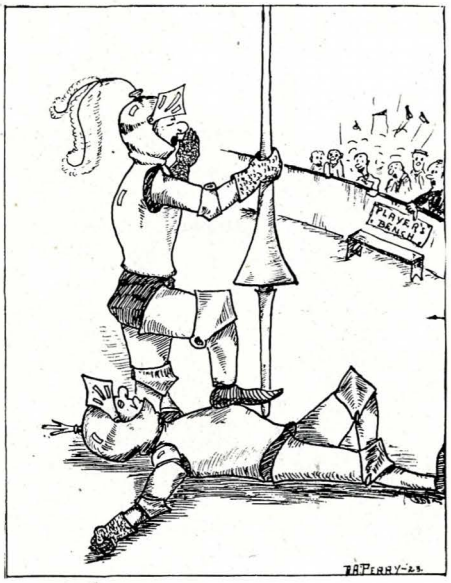

Elsie Ritter:—"Oh, dear, I've lost my little pink bow."
Florence Cope:—"How perfectly awful. What did he look like?"

Easy, Farley, Easy

Barber:—"How did you get your mustache into this condition? Guess I'll have to take it off."
Farley:—"All right. I tried to steal a kiss from a girl who was chewing gum."

A Matter of Opinion

"Bones"—"Don't you think she has a rare complexion?"
R. Jones—"Rather well done, I'd call it."

A Knight Out

Playing It Safe

Cassidy:—"I'm very despondent over my literary outlook."
Andress:—"Why so?"
Cassidy:—"I sent my best poem to the editor of The Times, entitled, 'Why Do I Live?' and he wrote back, 'Because you didn't bring this in person.'"

Turning the Tables

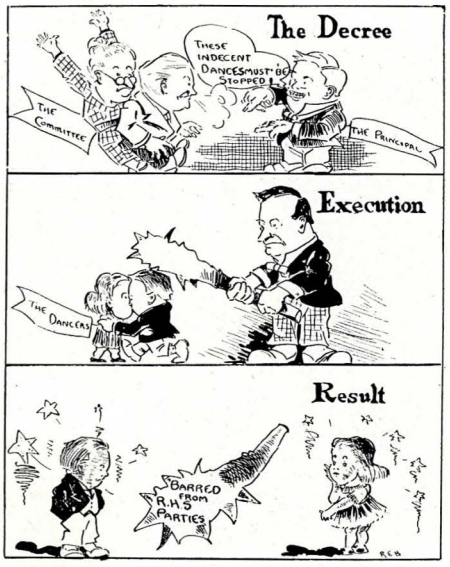

Mr. Haight:—"So you are going to send your wife away to the country for a rest?"
Mr. Burroughs:—"Yes, I need it badly."

Where Did He Suppose

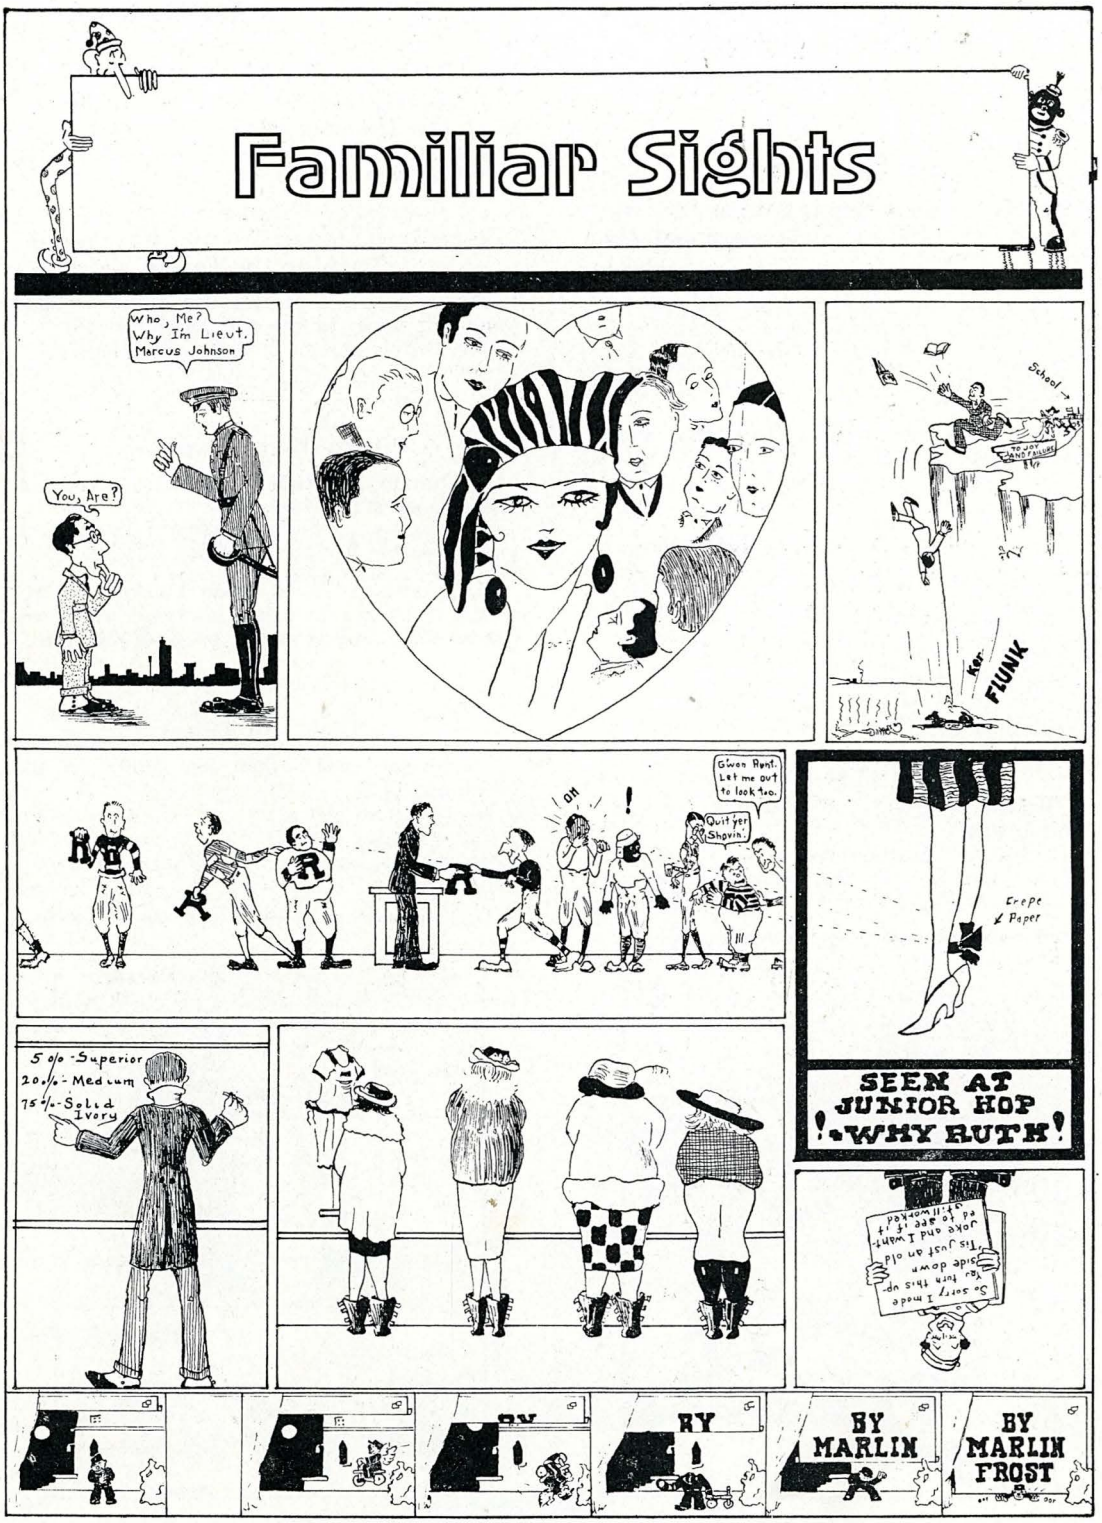

L. Dunlap:—"What's the matter with Mr. Hanna's eyes?"
W. Cummings:—"They're all right so far as I know."
L. Dunlap:—"Well, when I asked for my admit yesterday, he asked me twice where my hat was, and it was on my head all the time."

Give 'Em Time

"22—How many men are there in the Freshman class?
Also—About sixty.
"22—Is that all?
Also—Yes, but the rest will grow up eventually.

Sea captain (to one of many leaning over ship rail):—"Weak stomach, my lad?"

Merle Griswold:—(nervously):—"Why, ain't I putting it as far as the rest of them?"

A Newspaper Education

Miss Koch:—(in English): "Can anyone mention a case of great friendship made famous through literature?"

Dave Morrison:—"Mutt and Jeff."

The Missing Link

Miss Brown:—"Is there any connecting link between the animal and vegetable kingdom?"

Bright Student:—"Yes, ma'am, hash."

Still Chasing

Mr. Putnam:—"You are always behind in your studies."

Carleton:—"Well, you see, sir, it gives me an opportunity to pursue them."

Jack Scully Beats E. Aurora

A Modern Version

"Shoot if you must this old gray head,"
Old Barbara Fritchie said;
"Don't muss my bangs," the modern Babs
Will bellow out instead.

One reads a lot about the "self made man," but did you ever look into a woman's vanity case?

One reason why lightning never strikes twice in the same spot is because it never needs to.

"Well, this is the last of May," the young man sighed as he drove the final nail in the coffin.

Our idea of the mean man is the fellow who won't go to another fellow's funeral because that fellow will never go to his.

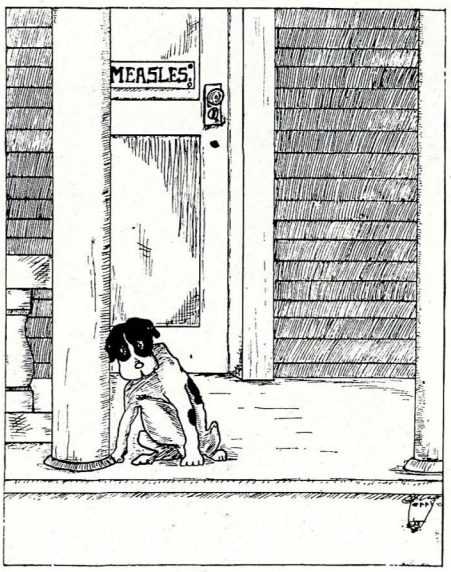

"I'm often beaten and always trodden underfoot," said the boarding house carpet.

"All the dogs have their day," said the horse, "and I always have my bit."

Too Expensive

Jack Patrick:—"Will you give a penny for my thoughts?"

Bill Johnson:—"Huh! Something for nothing."

Willie's Got 'Em

That's Us, Too

Mr. Saeger:—"I may be poor now, but when I was young I had me own carriage."

Mr. Alberstedt:—"Yep, and yer maw pushed it."

Sounded That Way

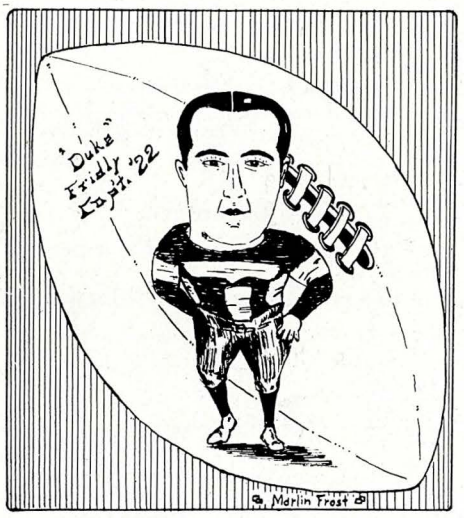

Mr. Marberry:—"What is that rasping noise in the office?"

Miss Purdy:—"Oh, I guess somebody's filing a complaint."

We've Seen Them

Mildred Elliott:—"What is a football moustache?"

Lucile Chase:—"One that has eleven on each side."

The Heart Breaker

A Summer Idyll

'Twas on a summer hayride,
As we strolled about the land,
That I softly called her sweetheart,
And held her little—raincoat.

As I held her little raincoat,
We were going quite a pace,
I nestled close beside her
And moved closer to her—umbrella.

Closer to her umbrella,
As she murmured little sighs,
The mellow moonlight bathed us
And I peeped into her—basket.

As I peeped into her basket,
The merry little miss,
Laughed in chaste confusion
As I boldly stole a—sandwich.

Of Course

Freshman:—"Have you seen Carmen?"

Senior:—"Sure, my brother's a conductor."

Page Will Hefferan

Oh! What is so rare as a day in June?
I'll answer this famed exclamation—
It's finding a Democrat holding a job
In a Republican administration.

Safe, If Not Sane

"He's wandering in his mind."
"That's all right, he won't go far."

If

If flies are flies because they fly,
And fleas are fleas because they flee,
Then bees are bees because they be.

Talented Workmen

There are two kinds of printers—real craftsmen and just ordinary type butchers. The employes of the House of Bliss are masters of the art—men of experience who take pride in doing good work. There is a great spirit of co-operation in this house. When a job comes in, marked "rush" every man is ready to bring it thru double quick.

Saving the Customer Money

Frequently, printers make a record for producing QUALITY work. The BLISS COMPANY has done more. It has demonstrated that Quality work can be done at A SAVING OF MONEY.

The Bliss Idea

of saving the customer money is not that of a cheapened or inferior job. It is the saving that comes from economical production; from efficient management; from accurate cost keeping; from clever planning of copy, lay out and the methods of work to reduce the cost of the job, without cutting the quality.

The firms which are climbing upward are rendering combined quality, service and value to their customers—that is the foundation upon which "The House of Bliss" is building.

Street Cars—

Through the maze of business streets and long distances thousands must daily make their way. They must get from where they live to where they work in the quickest possible time.

Thus transportation becomes our greatest need and our most difficult problem. This is where The Rockford City Traction Company enters. It is our duty to care for the transportation of many thousands of Rockford folk, taking them to and from school, to and from work, to and from pleasure, to and from shopping.

The management of The Rockford City Traction Company has set its mind to the future. Its program calls for the best transportation service possible. For this it needs the confidence of the community, the good will of the public. It needs that co operation, without which no business, private or public, can prosper.

We now have six modern motor busses in operation as passenger carriers connecting with main trunk lines those sections of Rockford that need transportation facilities which circumstances have made it impossible to provide before now.

We pledge our best effort to transport as rapidly as possible and as comfortably as may be, the Rockford public at all times.

THE NATIONAL BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

The Fourth National Interscholastic Basket Ball Tournament was held at the Bartlett gymnasium of the University of Chicago on April 5, 6, 7 and 8. Twenty-eight teams from all parts of the United States, the cream of the prep teams of the year, were entered. Alonzo A. Stagg, who has directed the meet ever since its inception four years ago, declares that the 1922 meet is the best one that has been held to date.

For the first time Rockford was included on the invitation list of Mr. Stagg, and Rockford fans and rooters feel more than satisfied with the prowess of the squad when they succeeded in landing third place. In the first round of play Rockford was matched against Negaunee, Michigan, champions of the upper peninsula, and the game was a hard fought contest from start to finish. The Rabs finally emerged victors 37 to 34 after a five-minute overtime period had been played. Rockford took an early lead, but in the second half Negaunee caught up with and passed the Red and Black warriors. With only a few minutes left, the Rabs spurted and by means of marvelous floor work and accurate basket shooting managed to tie the score just before the whistle blew. They managed to extend their spurt over into the extra time period and threby landed the victory.

In the second round of the tourney, the Rabs met the highly touted Kansas champions from Fort Scott. The first half was a closely contested period with the locals holding a slight edge with a 15 to 14 score. In the second half the Kansas champs cracked badly, and Rockford had little trouble in putting over a 39 to 18 victory. In the third round the Red and Black met the Montana state champs, hailing Missoula, and defeated them easily by a score of 46 to 19, using most of their second string men to turn the trick.

Victory in the third round matched us in the semi-finals with Mt. Vernon, Ohio state champs. In the first half Rockford found little trouble in handling this strong team, finishing the period on the long end of a 13 to 7 score. But the Ohio boys came back with a vengeance in the second half, gradually overcoming Rockford's lead, clinching the game in the last two or three minutes with a two-basket lead. The final score was 24 to 20.

In the final games Rockford met the Hume Fogg Academy team from Nashville, Tennessee, and had no trouble in putting them away by a 48 to 30 score. Lexington, Kentucky, won first place by defeating Mt. Vernon in the other game of the finals, and there was no question as to their superiority.

Each member of the Rockford squad received a silver basket ball watch fob charm, and a silver loving cup as a school trophy. Only one Rockford man was named on the All-American team, Elmer Stevens being selected as utility man. Officials said that had Ralph Baker played in more games that there is no doubt but that he would have won a place on the All-American squad, too.

The men who made up the Rockford squad were: Acting Captain Ralph Baker, Elmer Stevens, William Garrett, Carl Miltimore, George Hubbard, Harold Gleichman, Fred Kullberg, Clifford Nelson, and Louis Behr.

QUALITY first, with Accuracy, speed and Uniformity are the physical elements with which is combined the necessary mental genius to erect the structure upon which fittingly rests the crown of the Symbol of Service. It is a Mark of Distinction which many national advertisers have learned to cherish

Illustrating Of all fields of endeavor where creative ability is transformed into physical substance, none is more finely developed than the art of illustrating. As practiced in our shops it is Commercial Art at its highest.

Electrotyping Electros that stay flat and print are uniformly the products of the R. I. Co. In the making of our electros, quantity has ever been sacrificed to quality, and as a result the reputation of their long-lived economy is far-famed.

Engraving Is a purely mechanical process, but there are Engravings and Engravings. Photo Engravings from the R. I. Co. are masterpieces for the printing trade. Super-wearing surfaces deliver a degree of service to which we are proud to attach the Symbol of Service.

Graduation Gifts

Let us suggest as a graduation gift for the boy, a thin model watch, and for the girl, a ribbon wrist watch. Nothing could be more useful, or more acceptable to the young person you wish to remember.

Keep in mind, however, that in making such a purchase as this, your only safeguard lies in the character of the house you patronize.

NOTES

SENIOR CLASS PLAY DECLARED HUGE SUCCESS

Come Out of the Kitchen, Seems a Hard Command to Obey at High School Play.

After the successful play that Miss Arva Brady, director of the public speaking department of Rockford high school, presented Friday evening at Rockford theater, Rockford is going to give Miss Brady up with regret. Come Out of the Kitchen, which is the climax of her many dramatic successes, is the last presentation in Rockford under her able direction, because (it doesn't have to be whispered now, as it has been announced in black and white) Miss Brady is to become the bride of Robert Bennett of Ottawa, Ill., on June 24, at Beloit.

Miss Nancy Bond Smith, as Olivia Daingerfield, and Leland Cross, as Burton Crane, played the stellar parts. Miss Eloise Currens as Araminta and Elizabeth Daingerfield was especially good, and won the hearts of the audience in the first act. Miss Claudine Condon played the part of Olivia's black mammy to perfection.

Farley Ferguson, as Paul Daingerfield, the butler, played his major part exceedingly well. Clarence Erickson as Charles Daingerfield and Brindleburg, and Laird Scott, as Randolph Weeks, agent of Daingerfield, carried the humorous parts professionally. Ralph Olson, another comedian, as the attorney, is deserving of praise. Elmer Schmeling, as Thomas Lefferts, the poet, and Catherine Ferguson (Mrs. Faulkner) as the aristocratic mother of Cora Faulkner, (Marion Newberry, whose part was that of the quiet young girl, with a designing mother), are due a great deal of credit.

The Aristocrats.

The first act takes place in the drawing room of the Daingerfield home. The family is an old aristocratic family of the south, whose fortunes have suffered. The parents of the four children are in Europe where the father is attempting to regain his health. Olivia decides to rent the old homestead to a northerner, Burton Crane. Mr. Crane demands white servants and all is well enough until the servants make no appearance. This problem is solved by the Daingerfield children, who take the parts of the missing servants.

The next act is in the kitchen, and is one not to be forgotten soon. It was done realistically even if Araminta, with her dainty white hands, picks up a hot flatiron without a holder and Olivia, the cook, opens oven doors and holds hot things without holders; and stirs pudding in a pan that doesn't have a thing in it. The only dramatic acting of the play, when the children are concerned over the serious condition of their father, is in this act. Miss Smith was excellent here.

The last act is in the dining room, where the cook has to serve the dinner, as her brothers and sisters have all been dismissed, because of calling guests names and doing various other things that they shouldn't have done.

The desired climax is reached: Burton Crane discovers the secret, and Olivia discovers Burton's secret. Everybody's happy.

Members of the high school orchestra, under the direction of June Borner of the high school faculty, played between acts. Those assisting Miss Brady were John Buker and Burnett Reed, Paul S. Conklin, business manager; Richard Shelain, property manager, and Fred L. McClenegan.

The production will be repeated this evening at Rockford theater. Friday night's audience filled the theater.
